Attorney General rules

Yermanian on council 'violates city charter'

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus city councilman, elected at the city election last year, may be forced to make a decision between that seat and his job as a member of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff William Lucas Monday said Richard K. Yermanian would be called in to his office once he (Lucas) had a copy of the opinion by State Att. Gen. Frank Kelley. Kelley said serving in both positions is not permitted under the Romulus city charter.

Yermanian currently is on a 2-year disability leave from the Sheriff's Department and has put in for a medical retirement.

A letter, dated May 8, 1980, from Kelley to Sen. William Faust stated at the end: "It is my opinion that a council member of the city of Romulus may not simultaneously serve as a deputy county sheriff charged with enforcing city ordinances."

Kelley said the Romulus city charter specifically forbids an elected city official to receive pay in an appointive position. As a member of the sheriff's department, Yermanian is a paid county employee.

Kelley also stated that the city's current agreement with the sheriff's department for law enforcement services "... would in no way affect the charter prohibition on a member of the council serving in a paid capacity as a deputy sheriff enforcing city ordinances within the City of Romulus."

Yermanian admitted he was assigned to the Romulus area when he went on sick leave. However, he said his replacement has since been assigned to the Hines Park area.

Yermanian feels that since he would be going back to another area, if he returns to the sheriff's department, the ruling by Kelley showing a conflict between his serving as a deputy and enforcing city ordinances while being a councilman would not hold water.

"If I were to go back, I would have to take his place there," Yermanian explained. "But, it doesn't look as if I'll be going back."

The sheriff indicated that once he has a copy of the attorney general's ruling, he will call Yermanian in to his office.

"He (Yermanian) will have to make a choice," said Lucas. He referred to whether the Romulus councilman chooses to remain on council and leave his department or stay on as deputy and resign as councilman.

The opinion from the attorney general was requested by Sen. Faust's office. His aide, Kevin McKinney confirmed Monday that the city council and "not the mayor's office" had asked for the ruling. McKinney would not reveal which member of council had sought the legal ruling.

Suspect nabbed in case

A Romulus resident, on furlough from a Detroit half-way house, has been charged with first-degree murder in the death of a 37-year-old Inkster mother of six children.

Lodged in Wayne County Jail without bond is Sam Ross, 55. He was arrested at his residence about 5 p.m. May 25 and offered no resistance to police officers.

Det. Sgt. Alan Anderson of the Flat Rock State Police Post said Ross is charged with the death of Mrs. Ruthie May Hayes, who lived with her husband and several of her children in Inkster. He said Ross is a ex-boyfriend of the victim.

Mrs. Hayes' partially-nude body was found by a Van Buren Township motorcyclist on the afternoon of May 24 in a field north of Arkona Road, between Sumpter and Martinsville roads, Anderson said.

Anderson and his partner, Det. Sgt. Jay Dorenbecker, received a tip from a motorist who recalled seeing a tow truck retrieving a car from a field near where the body was discovered on the day before.

Their investigation led them to the tow truck operator, who knew and identified Ross as the man who paid him $28 to go out and get his car.

Anderson said the spot where the car was recovered was only about 100 yards from the location of the dead woman's body.

He said death was caused by a fractured neck, probably stemming from the woman being pulled behind Ross' car for a distance of about a half mile. Police theorized her body was tied to the car, probably with a rope.

Anderson said Ross did not volunteer any information and that, as of Thursday, his car had not been located.

He explained that Ross was serving time for felonious assault involving Mrs. Hayes and had recently been transferred to the Detroit half-way house.

At his examination last week (Wednesday), Ross was bound over to trial in Wayne County Circuit Court by Judge James Stone.

An executive declaration

Members of the staff of the Head Start Program at the Wayne-Westland Community Schools' SPARKEY Preschool Center were treated to an executive declaration, made by Gov. William Milliken recently. The proclamation declared the month of May as Head Start Month in Michigan and Jerome Falwell (right), ad-

Deputies charge 3 men in armed robbery case

Two men, one armed with a revolver, early Sunday morning tied up and robbed a lone occupant of an apartment unit in Hampton House Apartments, 7080 Niagara, Romulus.

Wayne County Sheriff's Department Det. Jimmie Cranford said Marvin Szpotek told police he was awakened about 8 a.m. by a knock on his apartment door. When he opened the door, he was confronted by two black males, one with a nickel-plated revolver. Cranford said Szpotek was bound hands and feet and that two men took two diamond rings, money and some appliances before fleeing from the premises. Szpotek freed the bonds from his hands, then his feet, in time to see the robbers leave in a car.

The detective said the robbery victim called the Sheriff's Department and gave them the car's description. A short time later, Deputy William Wadsworth stopped a car matching that description at a local intersection and arrested two men, he reported.

Later that same day, Cranford arrested a third man in Westland, whom his investigation disclosed was tied into the case. Cranford said names of the suspects are being withheld pending arraignment in 34th District Court in Romulus on charges of armed robbery.

Price challenges Lucas for county sheriff's position

Wayne County Sheriff Williams Luca's bid for a fifth term will include challenges from two members of his department, one of them being the only woman officer ever assigned to road patrol duty.

Det. Jo Price, 49, a 12-year veteran of the sheriff's department, stationed with the out-county division in Westland, is among three candidates seeking the 4-year sheriff's post.

Price and Jay Vida, a night-shift deputy who has run for sheriff several times, will run on the Republican ticket. On the Democrat side, Lucas is being opposed for the nomination for sheriff by Wayne D. Lynn of Lincoln Park.

Winners of each party's nomination battle at the Aug. 5 primary election will face each other in a runoff in the general election on Nov. 6.

Price, a resident of Van Buren Township, has served with the Sheriff's Department since 1968. In 1973, she was the first woman officer ever assigned to road patrol at Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Later she was the first woman officer assigned to county road patrol duty. Currently, she is the only woman officer in the Sheriff's Department on patrol duty.

She was employed as a registered nurse by the county in the City-County building for 10 years, from 1958-1968. During the Korean Conflict, she served as a lieutenant with the U.S. Navy.

Price said she was told personally by Lucas that she had to have his permission to run for the sheriff's slot. But, she said John Baier, president of local 502, Wayne County Deputy Sheriff's Association, informed her she did not have to have the sheriff's consent.

Instead, she complied with Baier's recommendation that she inform Lucas by letter that she was running for sheriff.

Pride said her campaign is being managed by Sue Canfield, a patrolman with the sheriff's office, whose father, John Canfield was mayor of Dearborn Heights. Canfield's sister currently serves on the Dearborn Heights City Council.

Price and Jay Vida... will run on the Republican ticket.

The detective said she has received many offers of help and financial support in her quest for top law enforcement officer of Wayne County.

Price has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Madonna College in Livonia and has almost finished work on her master's degree in that same field from the University of Detroit.

She has taught for nearly three years at the Wayne County Sheriff's Police Academy, now being held at Madonna College.

Campbell, Lombardi win vote

Unofficial results of Monday's Romulus school board election showed that Shirley Lombardi, board secretary, regained her seat. She will be joined on the board by Richard Campbell, who won the other 4-year slot.

Vote total for the three candidates were Lombardi, 507; Campbell, 449, and Richard Zavodsky, 363.

Total votes cast were 768, representing 4 percent of the registered voters in the Romulus School District.

Our Heritage

Sumpter Township: Way back when...

By JEANNE HARTWICK
Sumpter Township Historian

The Revolutionary War was drawing to a close, and returning soldiers began to think of their future. Many began to want more land than was available on the eastern seaboard. Since the newly established government had little ready cash, and many soldiers had not been paid for their services, the Congress passed the "bounty lands" act, whereby the soldiers were offered land in the west as partial payment. Not only was this a means of paying the men, but it also served to help the westward immigration.

Even though Michigan was part of the "bounty lands" act, immigration into the area was slow due to a number of factors. At the time of the first settlements, most of the lower peninsula was considered worthless swamps and unfit for cultivation. This was the opinion of the Territory Inspector General. The general impression of the Michigan land was so unfavorable that it was withdrawn as bounty land in 1816. By an act of Congress two million acres of land in Illinois and Missouri were substituted.

Stories of the bad conditions in Michigan began to be told in the east, not only about the poor farming soil, but of the unhealthy climate around Detroit and elsewhere. In 1813, hundreds of soldiers had died of disease in Detroit. The most common ailment was malaria, which people blamed on the swamps and bogs. At Fort Saginaw, in 1823, so many soldiers died of typhoid and "intermittent fever" the garrison was abandoned. These stories and the difficulty in reaching the territory nearly brought immigration to a standstill.

To reach the southern lower peninsula was a long, difficult journey. Travel was considered dangerous, unreliable and expensive. The accommodations were very poor, and men often hesitated to bring their families. To travel by land, was a long, hard, slow trip around the lakes. To reach Detroit from the south a traveler had to cross the "Black Swamp" (in Ohio). During a rainy period it was impossible. With good land available in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, there was little reason to endure hardships to enter southern Michigan.

As travel was both time consuming and costly, the man of the family many times came first to locate suitable farming land and possibly build a house of some kind before sending for his family.

With the opening of the Erie Canal in 1825 travel became easier and cheaper. Immigrants began to come from the New England states.

An early map drawn and plotted by Bela Hubbard, shows a few settlers were here very early. There were three families of Allens in Section 6, Eastons in Section 3, Section 10 the Merrills, the Coons in Section 14, Aldriges in Section 15, Debatous E. Morey in Section 20, Adam Anderson in 21, the St. Johns in 22, and David Brooks in Section 29.

Before 1840 Sumpter was part of Huron Township. This included all of Huron, Van Buren, Romulus and Sumpter townships. Boundaries for this large area were established by the Board of Supervisors on April 12, 1827. In 1835 Romulus and Van Buren were formed out of Huron. On April 6, 1840 Sumpter was formed. For a time the township was known as West Huron.

Sumpter was named for General Thomas Sumter, who was a general in the Revolutionary War. He served with General Francis Marion, who was called the "Swamp Fox" because of his methods of fighting. He was a guerrilla fighter in the Carolinas. General Sumter fought in the same manner.

During the summer of 1781, Sumter and his guerrillas battled and plundered their way through the South. Governor John Rutledge put an end to "Sumter Law" and forbade plundering. General Sumter resigned his commission and turned to politics, winning election to the South Carolina legislature.

He was elected to the U.S. Congress from 1789 to 1793 and from 1797 to 1801. Sumter was elected a U.S. senator in 1801 and served until 1810. After serving, he lived on his plantation, "South Mount," near Statesburg, S.C., where he died on June 1, 1832. The recording clerk mistakenly added the letter "p" to Sumter's name, which never has been corrected, so the township remains Sumpter.

By 1840, when the township was formed, there were about 228 residents. The number was such that an election was held on April 6, 1840, the very day the township was formed.

The first township meeting was held at the home of Zenas Seaman of Martinsville. The following men were elected:

Supervisor: Ira P. Beach (West Sumpter)

Clerk: Reuben Merrill (Martinsville)

Treasurer: Henry Anderson (Martinsville)

Justices of the Peace: Ira P. Beach (one year), Daniel Easton (two years), D.E. Morey (three years), Henry Anderson (four years)

School Inspectors: Daniel Brooks, Ira P. Beach, Henry H. Ford

Collector: George Elwell

Highway Commissioners: D.E. Morey (West Sumpter), Ingraham Elwell, Hiran Bird (West Sumpter)

Assessors: Havillah Plumb (Martinsville), C.T. Beadle, Daniel Easton

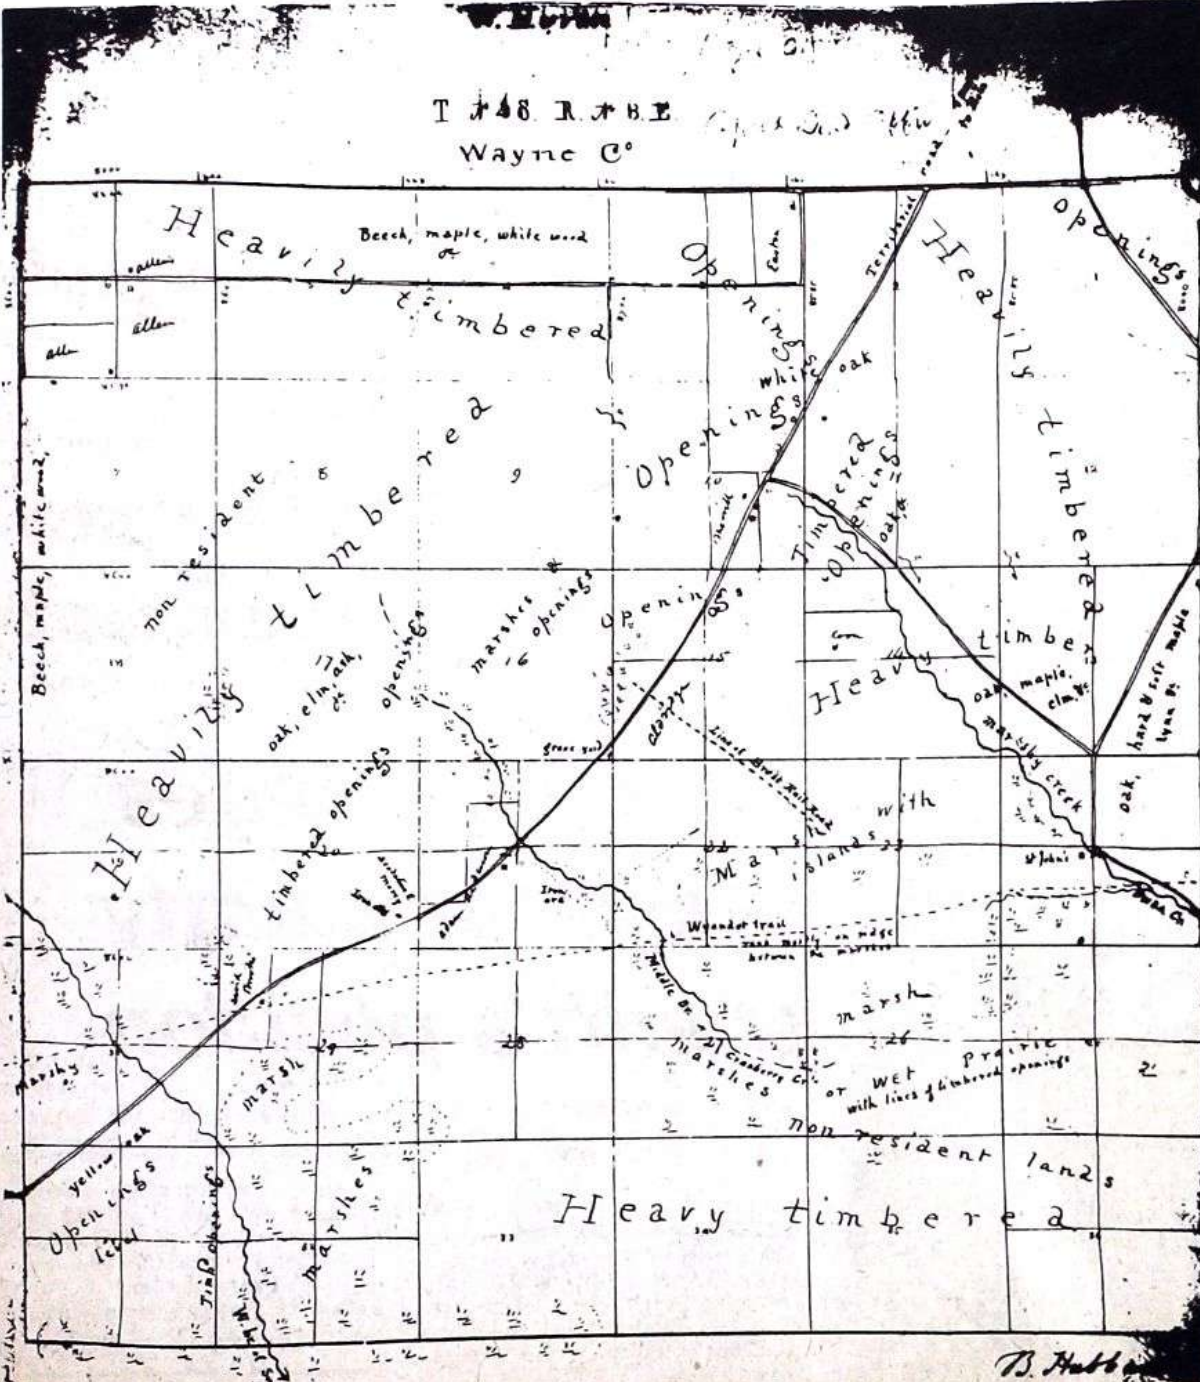

Poor Director: David Brooks (West Sumpter)

Constables: George Elwell, Henry Horner

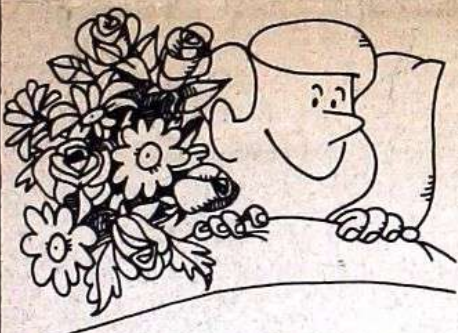

Thereafter, elections were an annual affair. A complete list of elected officers from 1840 through 1890 will be found in this publication.

The population grew yearly and in 1850 there were 434 people in Sumpter Township. Ten years later the number had grown to 1,106, in 1880 there were 1,445 people, and by 1900 the number was approximately 1,495.

Award recipients

5 candidates square off in Huron supervisor race

The upcoming primary election Aug. 5 in Huron Township will see five candidates battling for the supervisor's post, including Richard F. Sullivan, former township treasurer, who resigned late last year. As of last Tuesday's deadline, 20 candidates had filed.

New state legislation makes all township offices 4-year terms.

Current Supervisor Roy Raker will not seek re-election, choosing instead to run against Rep. Edward Mahalak for the 38th District post, which covers Huron Township and most of Romulus.

Sullivan early this year was appointed as finance director and comptroller for the City of Romulus in that community's effort to straighten out its financial problems.

In addition to Sullivan, three other Democrats are vying for the Democrat nomination for supervisor. They are A.J. Haener, veteran board trustee, Ralph V. Dugan, former supervisor, and Wayne C. Merriman.

Sole Republican candidate for that party's nomination is Eugene Perecki. He and the winner of the race for Democrat nominee will do battle for supervisor in the Nov. 6 general election.

Two Democrats and no Republicans are in the nomination battle for the clerk's office. Incumbent Clerk Mary Lou Carey is being challenged by James C. Cook.

The race for treasurer is even more strange. No Republicans and only one Democrat are after party nominations. The lone Democrat candidate, incumbent Christine F. Gamber, appointed to fill the vacancy left by Sullivan's resignation, automatically will become the township treasurer again come fall.

The race for four trustee seats takes on a more normal tone, with five Democrats and five Republicans seeking their party's four nominations.

Trustee candidates are incumbent Democrats William Geierman, John Puskar and Frederick F. Ashby and Democrats George W. Moore, former supervisor and clerk, and Helen Kowalski, member of the recreation commission and rehabilitation housing board; Republicans George Angel, former supervisor and current school board member; Gary G. Bates, member of the planning commission; Sidney L. Dent, a perennial candidate for the township board; Robert Lemieux, member of the school board; and Robert J. Marker.

Two Democrat candidates are seeking that party's nomination for constable — William H. Manny and Devere R. Willard, both incumbents. No Republicans filed for their party's nomination.

Huron voters reject 3 of 4 tax proposals

Huron School District students will receive about the same level of education after Monday's school election, but they probably will have to use the same old textbooks and watch out for dripping water from leaky roofs.

School district voters passed the 18.82-mill levy for school operation for 5 years by a 1,052 to 750 vote margin, but turned thumbs down on the remaining three proposals.

Vote totals for losing proposals were: Proposal 2, a 2.10-mill levy for 2 years for new textbooks, supplies, and other items, 1,053 no and 722 yes; Proposal 3, a 0.75-mill levy for 2 years for heating and roof repairs, 1,011 no and 748 yes; and Proposal 4, for authority to levy full school millage rate in 1980 without applying Hadlee Amendment restrictions, 1,166 no and 581 yes.

In the race for two 4-year terms on the school board, Larry Lee O'Kelley and Gary R. Tobin emerged as winners out of the field of six candidates.

Vote totals were Kelley, 702; Tobin, 716; Jacqueline Dregansky, 597; Susan J. Helsel, 389; William G. Thomas, 209; and John W. Watson, 459.

Mayor chides seniors for support of Zavitz

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A newly-formed senior citizens advisory board last week was told by Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley that "you should be ashamed of yourselves" for appearing at two council sessions and urging retention of Mrs. Donna Lee Zavitz as senior citizens coordinator.

Irene Perry, one of the board's five members, said the group met with Oakley Wednesday at the senior drop-in center to discuss several areas, including Zavitz' resignation. Zavitz resigned because she said she was repeatedly passed over for full-time job status and job benefits and felt that she had been treated unfairly by the city and Oakley.

Since her resignation, a contingent of senior citizens turned out at two council meetings to urge she be kept on and should have been made recreation director instead of Dennis Davidson, appointed to that post by the mayor. Davidson replaced Marie Debuyscher, who was discharged by Oakley.

Debuyscher was a full-time director, having been appointed to that position several years ago by former Mayor Hyle Carmichael. Zavitz, who performed many of the same duties with senior citizens and their programs, was never made full-time.

Mrs. Perry said in the board's talk with Oakley, he told them that the reason Zavitz had quit was because she had sold her house in Romulus and was moving out of the city. He said Zavitz wanted "sympathy," Mrs. Perry said.

However, Zavitz told the Roman shortly after she resigned that she and her husband, Gordon, were moving out of the city because she had had enough of unfair treatment by the mayor's office, and they were putting up their house for sale because of that decision.

Mrs. Perry said the board told Oakley that they were not ashamed of their support of Zavitz and that their appearance at the two council sessions had been on their own violation.

She said the board wanted to know if the mayor intended to let Zavitz's assistant, Mrs. Marilyn McMasters, continue to serve as coordinator. She said the mayor said he would need a couple of weeks to make that decision in view of other applications he had received for that position.

The meeting was called by the senior citizens advisory board to air feelings and make inquiries on several matters. One, Mrs. Perry said, was why four new window air conditioners which cost $1,500 and were now resting in the old fire house across the street since last November, had not been installed in the drop-in center.

Mrs. Perry said Oakley did not give them "a definite answer," but said he would look into the matter. The mayor Friday told the Roman that he had contacted the company from which the air conditioning units had been purchased "for an exchange or credit."

The mayor said he did not want to cut holes into the walls of a building as new as the drop-in center.

A third issue seniors discussed with Oakley was money left over from a $20,000 grant obtained by the city to buy equipment and furniture for the drop-in center.

Mrs. Perry said their board had been told their account had been closed out, despite the board's assertion that $645 still remained in the account. She said the mayor acknowledged a balance of $645 in their account and said he would re-order electrical equipment still needed.

But, Mrs. Perry said Oakley admonished them for "squawking" about the electrical equipment because seniors would not be paying for the labor to install the service.

Oakley Friday said that he strongly supported the formation of the senior citizens advisory board and had urged its creation two years ago.

In training

Sgt. Norman Olmstead leads two of his charges during the 2-week training course for all members of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department who will operate motorcycles. Held on grounds of Wayne County General Hospital, the course will familiarize 12 officers in all phases of motorcycle operation, including riding on rough terrain, high-speed chases and dismounting. As members of the department's secondary road patrol, motorcycle officers will work in all of the county's townships and cities, including Hamtramck, Romulus, Dearborn Heights and Garden City. Sgt. Olmstead shares training duties with Sgt. Dan Kerber of the secondary road patrol, which functions separately from the department's traffic division.

Diebold Inc. opens service branch

Romulus is the site of a new service branch office of Diebold, Incorporated, according to William Tussing, central area service and installation manager.

Based in Canton, Ohio, Diebold is a leading manufacturer of bank equipment, automated teller machines and commercial security systems. Diebold also has established a network of more than 270 service locations across the country to support its customer installations.

The new branch will have a full-time manager, factory trained service technicians, and a comprehensive inventory of replacement parts and components. The office will serve Monroe County, as well as the southern half of Wayne County.

"In our commitment to meet the unique needs of our customers, we expanded our service capabilities in the Romulus area. The opening of the Romulus office is the realization of some longterm plans for this area," Tussing said.

The Romulus branch is located at 36430 Northline, and can be reached by calling 942-1400.

In Brief

The Belleville High School Class of 1945 will be holding its 35-year class reunion on June 28 at the Ramada Inn, 8270 Wickham Road, Romulus.

Those grads interested in attending can contact Jean Renton Orskey at 697-7137 for further information.

In response to a recommendation by Mayor William M. Oakley, the Romulus City Council has agreed to re-open the city waste transfer site, located at 34100 Goddard Road. The site was closed several months ago in a budget austerity move.

Residents wishing to use the facility now will be charged a user fee of $6 per load, (half price for citizens 60 and over) payable at the treasurer's office in city hall. A receipt and proper identification must be presented at the DPW building before a resident can use the facility.

This service is in addition to the once-a-week, door-to-door trash removal service currently provided to residents. Under the regularly-scheduled service, large objects such as appliances, furniture, boxes, crates, newspapers and tree branches will be picked up, if flattened and tied in bundles.

Only industrial plant refuse, construction materials, broken concrete, rubber tires, or car parts are excluded from the regular pickup. For this material, the city dumpster will be open from 7:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. For further information, call 941-0666, extension 258.

A unique husband-wife medical team have set up practice in the City of Romulus at 9231 S. Wayne Road in the Wayne-Port Shopping Plaza.

Drs. Juan and Narcisa Villamin, who specialize in general medicine and surgery, have renovated a vacant office site and have established office hours from 1 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

An open house is planned for Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. to provide Romulus residents a chance to tour the new facility and meet the two doctors. Refreshments will be served.

North symphonic band nets No. 1 in state competition

The Romulus North Junior High School Symphonic Band performed at the State Band Festival in Saline, and was a winner.

With six weeks of no school and with only two weeks of practice between the district and the state festival, the North Band was under the pressures of the competition and the state festival.

The result? A first division rating in the Class B Junior High School Classification. Not only did the North Symphonic Band receive a final first division rating, but the band collected the coveted 1, or superior rating, from each of the four judges at the festival.

This marked only the second time in the history of the Romulus schools that a band has received all first division ratings at the state festival.

What makes this even more remarkable is the fact that the North band had recorded a first division rating at the district festival (at Ida Senior High on March 8) by the narrowest of margins, receiving two first division ratings and two second division ratings from the four judges.

At the state festival three of the four judges gave the North band an A-plus for balance, blend and beauty of tone.

Judge Larry Jones final comment was: "This is the best junior high band I have judged this year!"

John Whitwell, band director at Ann Arbor Huron, concluded with: "You are a great tribute to your community, your school system and especially to yourselves."

Director Richard Kruse said: "I still can't believe that this could be achieved."

"In Class B Junior High there are between 200 to 250 schools in Michigan. Only 20 made it to the State Band Festival, and usually only three to five of these will receive the coveted first division rating from all four judges at the festival. The parents of these children can be most proud of their accomplishments."

Kruse said each student in the North Symphonic Band will receive an A-plus for the final marking period and an A-plus for the year. He also wished to "extend a hearty congratulations to each of his students for this outstanding achievement and that Romulus will not forget for a long time."

The North Bands will present their annual Spring Concert on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the North gym. The public is welcome, and there is no admission charge.

That's a record

Although their names will not appear in the Guinness Book of World Records, Randall Laskaska of Romulus and his fellow marathon softballers can be proud that their efforts raised nearly $6,000 for the American Cancer Society.

The marathon softball team, made up of students from Michigan State University's Holden Residence Hall, was attempting to raise money for the society by breaking the world record for continuous softball playing, set recently at 72 hours by the University of Idaho.

After lining up pledges on a by-the-hour basis, the marathoners took to the playing field early on the morning of May 1. They played until 3:32 a.m. May 1, nearly 67½ hours later, when four of the players were felled by heat stroke.

Laskaska, a junior at MSU majoring in business, is the son of Shirley Laskaska of Westvale. He is a 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

T-shirts, flower seeds, and burgers 'meet' in Romulus's annual cleanup

What do cheeseburgers, flower seeds, T-shirts, pine trees, junk cars, Pepsi-Cola and garden plots have in common? They were all ingredients of the spring cleanup campaign in the City of Romulus this year.

Sponsored by the Romulus Beautification Committee, the panel attempts to involve as many community residents as possible in a city-wide spring cleaning. And this year was no exception.

A comprehensive 13-point program was organized by the committee and put into operation May 10, when the Romulus Lions Club was stationed at the City Hall to distribute 1,000 red and scotch pine tree seedlings to residents. The offer was repeated on May 17.

That same week large outdoor trash bags and plastic auto litter containers went on sale at the information desk in the city hall.

The Department of Public Works also got into the act, with a subdivision street cleaning in the city's six major residential areas.

Then it was the children's turn to do something. They meet at the city hall on May 14, then fanned out along eight routes in the city to collect litter and debris. They converged on Kennedy Park, following their work, for a light dinner, provided by McDonald's and the Pepsi-Cola Co. Pepsi donated the extra-large collection bags the volunteers used.

Other activities during the cleanup included a farm-a-lot program in which 55 city lots were made available to residents for gardening this summer; the planting of a dozen transplanted trees from Detroit Diesel Allison to several city parks, 34th District Court, the senior center and high school; the placing of large steel litter barrels in city parks, public sites and shopping areas; and a move to rid the city of junk cars through the enforcement of ordinances.

County special ed tax levy raises $15,126,674 in '79-80

A total of $15,126,674, produced by the 1-mill county-wide tax for special education, has been distributed to 36 local school districts by the Wayne County Intermediate School District during the school year.

The special education tax, approved by county voters in 1974, is allocated to local districts under a formula approved by all 36 districts to help support educational programs for handicapped students.

The amounts forwarded to local school districts include interest earned since the tax money was received by the Intermediate District.

Local school districts received: Cherry Hill, $64,153; Crestwood, $46,325; Huron, $54,081; Inkster, $33,160; Plymouth-Canton, $253,607; Romulus, $200,403; Van Buren, $94,013; and Wayne-Westland, $1,428,357.

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY!!

In the armed forces

Three residents join Air Force through DEP

Three Belleville-Romulus area residents have entered the U.S. Air Force through its Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).
Signing up for DEP were Robert S. Turner, the son of Robert and Hazel Turner of Hoeft, Belleville; Jeffrey L. Jett, 19, the son of Harvey and Mary Jett of Altus Okla., and who lives on Wilmot Street in Belleville; and Mark A. Passini, 20, the son of Robert and Norma Passini of Grix Street, New Boston.
Turner will enter the regular Air Force on July 7. Following graduation from basic training, he will receive technical training in the mechanical aptitude area.

Jett also will enter the regular Air Force on July 7, and after basic, will receive instruction in the mechanical aptitude area.

Passini, a 1977 graduate of Huron High School, will commence four years of active duty Sept. 2. After basic, he will receive aircraft maintenance specialist training.

All three men will be taking their basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Also in the armed forces:

Marjorie A. Glazier, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon D. Glazier of Crescent Drive, Spring Hill, Fla., was commissioned a second lieutenant and awarded a bachelor of science degree May 28 upon graduation from the U.S. Air Force Academy, here.

Lt. Glazier has been selected for duty at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., as a computer programmer.

More than 72 percent of the 900 members of this year's graduating class will go to pilot or navigator training. The remainder will pursue graduate degrees at universities throughout the country or be assigned to operational Air Force units.

The lieutenant is a 1976 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, Romulus.

MARJORIE GLAZIER

U.S. participated in the 2-week exercise. It was designed to promote improved coordination and cooperation of multinational forces, and to demonstrate NATO's readiness to deter aggression along its southern flank.

A 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, Koppert joined the Navy in October 1976.

DWAYNE McLAUGHLIN

McLaughlin of Martz Road, Belleville, recently completed advanced individual training at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. This qualified him as a light-weapons infantry man and as an indirect fire crewman.

He was taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Airman Jeffrey P. Andring, the son of Tanagra R. Andring of Ecorse, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

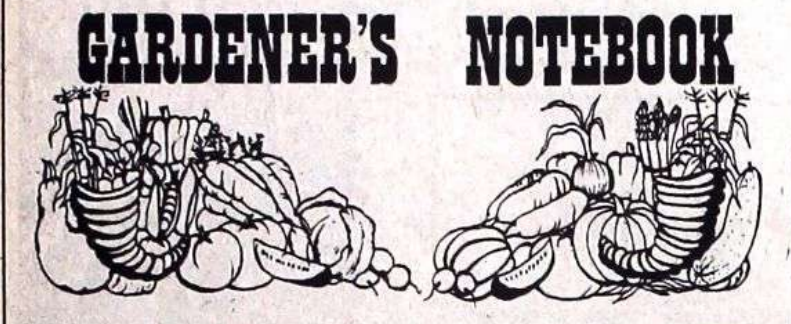

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, earned him credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman now will receive specialized instruction in the communications-electronics systems field.

His father, Arthur A. Andring, resides on Wayne Road in Romulus.

Airman Andring is a 1979 graduate of New Boston Huron High School, New Boston.

GARDENER'S NOTEBOOK

You can begin planting the vegetable garden as early as late March, if the soil is dry enough to work. And you can continue to plant some crops as late as August for a fall harvest.

To get an early start in the spring, Michigan State University Extension horticulture specialists Lee Taylor suggests plowing and mixing organic material in the soil in the fall. Then, in the spring, all you have to do is incorporate fertilizer and smooth out the lumps, and you're ready to plant.

Some plants usually are grown from transplants. The members of the cabbage family — broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower and kohlrabi — will tolerate some frost and so can be planted early. Tomatoes, peppers and eggplant are very easily injured by cold temperatures and frost, so they must wait until the likelihood of frost is past.

Of the crops grown from seed, onions, peas, lettuce, spinach, carrots, beets and radishes can be planted as soon as you can work the soil. Frost-sensitive crops like cucumbers, squash and melons should be planted around the frost-free date in your area. Beans and sweet corn may be damaged by frost, but because it takes the seedlings a week or two to emerge, they usually can be safely planted that long before the frost-free date. Be sure to plant sweet corn in blocks of several short rows rather than one or two long rows. This is necessary for proper pollination. Poor pollination results in poorly filled-out ears.

You can speed the germination of plants that need warm soil to germinate, if you use plastic mulch to warm the soil. Either clear or black plastic will do the job, Taylor points out, though black plastic also prevents weed growth because it cuts off light to emerging seedlings. Work up the soil, add fertilizer, then put down the plastic and let it trap the sun's heat. When you're ready to seed, take the plastic up. Transplants can be set into the ground through holes in the plastic, which then acts as a mulch to hold moisture in the soil and keep produce off the ground.

In clay soils that tend to crust, small seeds may have trouble poking through the soil. Covering rows of seeds with vermiculite, perlite, sand, or sawdust instead of soil will make it easier for fragile seedlings to emerge. Layers of wet newspaper or burlap will help keep seedbeds moist and speed germination. Just be sure to remove the coverings when seedlings begin to push through the soil.

Planting is simpler if you map out the crops you intend to grow and set up a planting schedule, Taylor suggests. It makes sense to put perennial crops like rhubarb and asparagus to one side of the garden where they won't be in the way when you're plowing or tilling. Fall crops like sweet corn should be on the north side so they won't shade sun-loving crops like tomatoes, peppers and beans. If part of the garden is partially shaded, plant lettuce, greens and root crops there. They'll tolerate shade better than the crops that produce fruits.

"One thing you don't have to worry about is closely related crops 'crossing' with one another," Taylor says. "Cucumbers can be planted next to pumpkins, for instance, without any effect on this year's fruits."

The exception to the no-worry rule is sweet corn. Sweet corn, field corn, popcorn and ornamental corn will all cross-pollinate; and in this case, the edible part of this year's plants will be affected. With other crops, crossing affects only the plants that would be produced if you planted the seeds from this year's fruits.

How far apart you space plants and rows depends primarily on how much space is available and how you intend to cultivate the garden. If space is unlimited, you might as well set the garden up so you can cultivate with a hand or powered tiller. To allow room for the tiller to move, make the aisles between the rows 6 to 12 inches wider than the machine.

Planting is not a one-time operation. It can be a fairly continuous process that begins with the first of the cool-season crops in early spring and goes on through the warm-season transplants to midsummer plantings of cool-season crops for a fall harvest.

The practice of following an early-harvested crop with another is called successive planting. With a little bit of planning, it enables you to keep all of your garden space producing all summer.

Staggered planting is making several small plantings of a crop so that the harvest occurs over time rather than all at once.

Companion planting involves planting two crops in the same space at the same time. The trick is to choose quick-maturing crop like radishes, lettuce or spinach to mix with a slow-maturing crop like carrots or broccoli. The first crop comes and is gone before it crowds the later one.

Think about your crops as you plan and plant, but don't forget to think about yourself, Taylor suggests. Plant no more than you can realistically hope to care for adequately. And put psychology to work.

"Most people would rather weed a short row than a long one," he points out. "Even if the total number of row feet is the same, several short rows look like less work than one long row. With short rows, the feeling of accomplishment you get from finishing a row comes more often, encouraging you to go on. Short rows break a task into manageable pieces. With long rows, the task looks never-ending, and that can be discouraging."

Navy Machinist's Mate 2.c. Alexander T. Koppert, the son of Nicholas and Joanna Koppert of Quirk, Belleville, recently participated in exercise "Dawn Patrol 80" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is a crewmember aboard the dock landing ship USS Spiegel Grove, homeported at the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base, Norfolk, Va.

Realtors launch drive to have U.S. flags flown

The Western Wayne County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) is launching a drive to encourage every homeowner in the area to fly the American flag.

"With Flag Day coming up Sunday followed by the Fourth of July and then the Republican National Convention, we think this is a particularly appropriate time for residents to demonstrate this form of patriotism," said John J. Halser, WWOCBR president.

To kick off the drive, the board will conduct special ceremonies at its headquarters at 24125 Drake Road in Farmington starting at 1 p.m. Saturday. A highlight will be raising of a flag flown over the Capitol Building in Washington. The public is invited to the ceremonies expected to be attended by area Congressmen, legislators and local officials along with WWOCBR member Realtors.

"We want this to serve as an incentive for each of the member offices to fly the flag at these special times, and preferably every day," said Halser. "With thousands of visitors spread throughout the metropolitan area during the Republican convention, we hope to see every home showing a flag."

"While this area has likely been hit harder than any other by the current economic recession, a solid display of flags would demonstrate our continuing pride in our nation and our belief in the free enterprise system."

THE WWOCBR president pointed out that Michigan has long been one of the leading homeowner states with such status covering an estimated 75 percent of the population.

"Many area residents already make a habit of flying a flag on these occasions at their homes and-or businesses," he added.

Cathy Lee Allen of Belleville has graduated cum laude from Mercy College of Detroit. She received her bachelor of science degree in medical record science.

Ms. Allen is the daughter of Mrs. Nora T. Allen of Belleville.

Belleville resident Lisa L. Chen of Belleville Road, a junior majoring in psychology, was among 409 student recently initiated into Phi Kappa Phi, the national honor society that recognizes and encourages superior scholarship at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

To be eligible for induction Ms. Chen had to be within the top 1.5 percent of her class.

Five Belleville-Romulus residents have been named to the dean's list for the spring term at Madonna

Pets and animals Getting rid of fleas

BY STANLEY E. BARTKIEWICZ DVM

With warmer weather approaching, fleas may become an increasing problem for your pet.

Fleas are small, reddish, wingless insects. For their size, they are capable of jumping great distances. They feed on blood primarily of cats or dogs, but if these are absent, they may feed on human blood. They can live on the animal or jump off for short periods of time. Fleas can be carriers of tapeworms to dogs, cats and humans.

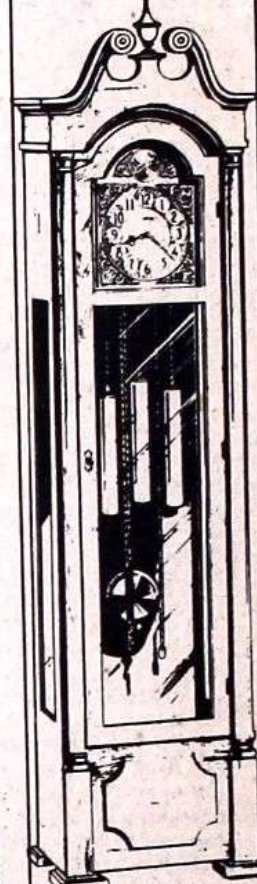

The flea eggs may be laid off the animal. The life cycle from egg to adult is from three to six weeks. Some animals are allergic to the saliva of the flea and removing the flea quickly is important to the animal's general welfare.

To get rid of fleas you must consider the life cycle. Obtain a spray of powder from your veterinarian. Treat all cats and dogs in the house as directed for at least four to six weeks. Your veterinarian may suggest bathing the animal, or placing it on medication, depending on your animal's symptoms.

You may spray the baseboards with a commercial house insect killer. vacuuming the carpeting on the days the animal is treated will pick up many of the excess eggs and fleas. Discard the vacuum bag after vacuuming is completed. Wash the animal's bedding on the days of treatment.

Your veterinarian also may suggest insect bombs in severe cases or an exterminator in extreme cases. The important point in ridding your pet and home of fleas is to continue treatment for at least four to six weeks.

Harold Rediske
UHT Memorial Funeral Home
CAN A MONUMENT OR MARKER BE MATCHED TO A VERY OLD ONE?
Yes, any kind of marker or monument can be matched reasonably well regardless of the age of the original one. This is one of the personal services generally available from your memorial counselor.
The usual manner of matching an existing monument or marker is to make a rubbing of the original. By placing rubbing paper, similar to carbon paper on the stone, the lettering and any decorative patterns are transferred by the rubbing process. This provides the pattern from which the matching piece can be made. Hand carving and other features can be duplicated, too.
After the pattern is taken, the measurements, height and other specifics are noted and used to match the original.
We advise that before this procedure is begun you contact the cemetery to be sure you can install the type of monument or marker you have in mind.

Photographic History: A survey

BY DON GREEN

The process of chemically fixing an image on an object came long after the development of the camera and proceeded slowly.

The first important discovery was made by Johann Heinrich Schulze in 1725. Schulze was a professor of anatomy at the University of Altdorf.

Schulze mixed powdered chalk and nitric acid together trying to make the "luminous stone" of the alchemist Baldwin. But much to Schulze's surprise and amazement he discovered the mixture turned dark violet in the sunlight. He traced the discoloration to a contaminant in the acid silver and eventually proved that silver nitrate and silver carbonate were visibly changed by the action of light, rather than by heat and exposure to air, as had been previously suggested.

Schulze made many other stencil prints with his concoction, but never applied the solution to paper or made any attempt to record natural images with it.

Next week we will look at the discoveries of Carl Wilhelm Scheele and what he overlooked.

WHAT'S NEW ON THE MARKET

If you own a 35mm camera with autowind capabilities, and you like to develop your own film, you may want to try the new Ilford 72 exposure HP5. This is the same fine HP5 you may have used in the past. The new film is different in one way — the standard 20 and 36 exposure HP5 is made on 5-mil thick acetate film. The new 72 exposure HP5, however, is on a 3-mil thick polyester film. The polyester film is much stronger. It is this reason that enables Ilford to put 72 exposures on a standard cassette.

All HP5 film is rated at an ASA of 400 and can be push processed to as high as 3200. Exposure and development data is available at your local camera dealer.

You must buy the processing reel from Ilford. It will be available in either plastic or stainless steel.

I think this is just the film for the person who has a space or weight problem; such as backpackers, bikers, etc. The price is based on two times the cost of HP5 36 exposure film. And don't worry about your exposure counter only counting to 36 or 38. In most cases, the film will not damage your camera. For specific questions on your camera send a postcard to Focus on Photography, Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan, Wayne, MI 48184.

TIPS FOR BETTER PRINTING

Use the right film for the job. Exposure should bring out detail in the shadows.

Develop negatives to compliment the paper used.

Keep a constant chemistry temperature.

Use recommended agitation procedures.

Use fresh developer.

Do not use exhausted stop bath. Keep negatives separated in fixer. Do not over fix.

Wash negatives thoroughly. Wipe off film before drying.

Do not dry negatives in high temperatures.

Store film under recommended conditions.

If you follow these tips you will have a better negative and print.

DESCRIPTION OF THE LAND

When the township was first surveyed in 1815 by Alexander Holmes, the area was partly covered by a dense forest of hardwood, white and yellow oak, hard and soft maple, ash, beech, basswood and some walnut.

The soil was found to be sandy and was formed into slight ridges, some of which still can be seen today. One such ridge ran east to west on the southern part of the township across sections 30, 29, 28, 22, 23, and 24. A large swamp or marsh covered much of sections 29 and 32.

Drainage was, and still is, mostly into the Swan and Cranberry Creeks. The latter was named for the berries that grew on it's banks. It was a tributary of Swan Creek. Drainage also is provided by the Disbrow Ditch.

The Wyandot Indian trail crossed the southern end of the township from east to west. It followed the sand ridges between the marshes. The trail entered Huron Township and went to the reservation on the banks of the Huron River. The Indians from around Detroit had been sent to live on the land that many years later became Huron River Park. A monument, shaped like a teepee still stands. The inscription reads:

This monument marks the site of the last Reservation of the Wyandot tribe of Indians in Michigan. (Erected in 1926)

Rotary, Central Business to celebrate Romulus Days

Rotary and Central Business District Association will join together in Romulus Days Celebration scheduled for Friday, July 18, and Saturday, July 19.

Over the years, in the summertime, Romulus Rotary has had an Annual Chicken Barbecue, which has always been well received and very successful.

The Romulus Central Business District over the past several years have also had successful Annual Sidewalk Sale, which included street dancing and other festivities.

In the past, the Mardi Gras atmosphere, of both summer festivities have been very well received and looked forward to by party-going Romulus people. Rotary and the RCBD thought it would be an excellent idea to hold both festivities at the same time and make one large party rather than two smaller ones.

The Chicken Barbecue tickets will cost $3 per person, which includes half chicken, beans, and potato chips. The barbecue will be held at its traditional spot at Kennedy Park, and will be hosted by Romulus Rotary on Saturday, July 19 from about 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The Romulus Business District Association will hold its festivities in the downtown area on Goddard Road between Shook and Sterling. Highlights of this portion of the celebration will be sidewalk sales by both merchants and antique dealers on Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Food and beverages including beer will be available. The main event of the celebration will be street dancing starting at 8 p.m. Saturday, with music provided by live band.

Everybody is invited and welcome to come and celebrate Romulus Day with Romulus Central Business District and Rotary.

Hair Shop opens in Romulus

The rebirth and the revitalization of downtown Romulus is taking place.

The most recent evidence of this is a new barbershop called Family Hair Shop owned and operated by Paul Filek.

Filek is assisted in his operation by an associate barber Paula Metcalf. Paul operates the Family Hair Shop from 36522 Goddard Road at Shook (formerly Phil's Barber Shop.) He has recently renovated the interior of the shop, which creates an image of an old village barbershop, which is the theme of the Romulus downtown area.

The exterior of the building is also newly painted and also projects "Old Village" Romulus Theme.

Paul has had over 11 years experience in barbering which includes 1 1/2 years as an instructor at Detroit Barber College.

In addition to regular hair cuts the Family Hair Shop does personalized hair styling.

Paul and his family live in Oakbrook Subdivision and is happy to be in business in downtown Romulus.

The Family Hair Shop hours are: 8:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. - Monday thru Friday; 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. - Saturday; closed on Wednesday - phone: 941-5044.

Paul and his associate Paula invite you to visit their new Family Hair Shop.

Builders offer $1,000 to home buyers who buy U.S. cars

The Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM) today announced that new home purchasers could receive a $1,000 check from their builder if they buy an American or Canadian-assembled car.

All new home buyers would be eligible for the money if they purchase a new house from one of 31 builders, designated as the "American Dream Team," between June 6 and July 13, 1980.

"We want to assure people that the 'American Dream,' — a new home and a new car — is real right now," explained Jeffrey D. Spoon, president of J.D. Spoon Development Corp., and chairman of the campaign.

"This program is designed to break the psychological barrier consumers feel about making large purchases, and to help keep the home building and automotive industries going — for everyone's benefit."

To be eligible for the check, any member of the home buyer's family — even a distant relative — can buy a car from a Michigan dealer. It can be purchased as early as 30 days prior to buying a home or as late as six months after "closing."

If the car is purchased prior to closing, a check will be provided at that time. If the car is bought after the closing, the builder, as the time of closing, will put the check into an escrow account at BASM, for the buyer's protection.

Because of government regulations, only those homes sold with conventional financing are eligible. FHA, VA, MSHDA, and FMHA financed homes are expressly excluded.

The buyer is responsible for informing his mortgage lender of his involvement in this program and obtaining any needed approval.

Any disputes arising out of this program will be resolved by arbitration under the Commercial Tribunal Rules of the American Arbitration Association. The award of the arbitrator will be final.

BASM President Otto Bingeser said, "We are especially anxious to reach the consumer who lacks the confidence to buy, despite the fact that housing prices will never be lower than right now. Increased sales of homes and cars will bring people back to work and make the 'American Dream' possible for more people."

Full page ads in the newspapers and point of sale signage will identify participating builders and subdivisions in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties.

Kelsey-Hayes receives engineers' award

The prestigious Industrial Professional Development Award for 1980 was presented to the Kelsey-Hayes Company Auto-Truck Group, of Romulus, at the 33rd Annual Meeting of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers here.

Chief Engineer Carl Ballard, P.E., representing the company and the engineers in its Auto-Truck Group, accepted the award from MSPE Professional Engineers in Industry President John Winters, P.E.

the automobile industry. As North America's largest manufacturer of wheels for cars and trucks, it utilizes extensive laboratory and vehicle test facilities in Romulus.

The engineers at Kelsey-Hayes pioneered disc brakes in the United States and the Company is now the largest supplier of disc brakes to the industry. It recently introduced disc brakes for the trucking industry — a development of the engineers who were honored along with the Company management by the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers.

Society's 2,800 members at Harbor Springs, Winters told Ballard that, "You and your Company can be proud indeed, for this Award is not given lightly. It is presented in recognition of excellence in promoting professional development of an engineering staff."

"Your Company and the Auto-Truck Group engineers have made great strides. You are showing what can be done by a Company which is willing to help its people upgrade their professionalism," he said.

Furnished in excellent taste, the Inter City Christian Manor apartment complex has many spacious and luxurious rooms as evidenced by apartment 916 which was hosted for resident Lillian Osborn by Amanda Hermitz.

'The Manor' has a library reading room, hosted by Helen Williams and Hildegard Heiland.

Open House Inter-City Christian Manor opens in grand fashion

It is indeed a unique manor.
Inter-City Christian Manor is designed to meet its residents' every need and accents comfort as well as a hospitable surrounding for its senior citizens.
Located at 4600 Allen Road in Allen Park, the apartment complex's management, headed by Janene F. McLane, hosted an 'open house' last Sunday and invited the public and press to view its facilities.

Questions regarding the "Life Care" philosophy of Inter-City Christian Manor were directed to and answered by Ms. McLane, Ed Kenny and Larry Russell — all of whom are employees of Continuing Care Management Corporation.

"Continuing Care Corporation," pointed out Ms. McLane, "is an affiliate of Life Care Services, a new professional management company which has been contracted to manage the Manor. Continuing Care has been refining and developing retirement communities throughout the United States for the past 10 years.

"And the Manor personifies all we have been trying to do in this area," she added.
The residency contract provides a life lease for the apartment and use of the on-the-premises Health Care Center as needed for life. The Manor also, as a "Life Care" facility is registered with the Security Commissions in Lansing.

School elections; post mortem

The school elections are over with — the people have had their say.

And we won't criticize what they said. It's what they're not saying that concerns us. Worries us. Unfortunately, there is little we can do about it.

The grim reality of facts reveals just how much some people care about their schools. For example, if you had a $50 million business, wouldn't you want the best people around to help you run it?

We believe you would. However, in the Wayne-Westland Community School District — which operates a $50 million "business" and where there are about 50,000 registered voters — do you know how many went to the polls on Monday to cast their votes? About 2,000. That's how many. That's about 4 percent of the eligible voters.

In no school district, moreover, in this area did more than 20 percent of the voters decide to "take the trouble" to vote.

It is alarming, isn't it?

There would be immediate protests by these same voters if the boards of education would shorten the school day, close schools because of lack of funds, cut programs, athletics — or a number of things.

But those people who didn't vote, can't really complain, can they?

We'll leave it at that.

Go, Good News Zebras

Most of us have heard about "The Bad News Bears," but few of us have heard little or anything about "The Good News Zebras."

Thanks to a veteran coach by the name of Jim Chronowski, the "Good News Zebras," a bunch of hard-nosed baseball players at Wayne Memorial, will be competing for the coveted state Class A baseball crown on Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial Stadium.

Like the Bad News Bears, the Zebras weren't supposed to be made of championship fiber. In fact, during the regular season they faded in their race for the Great Lakes 8 title only to recover in time to finish second.

Even Chronowski, who has had some great teams and ball players in the past, said "this was a team that had little or no pro prospects, but this is a team that has a lot of spirit and desire."

That spirit, or magic, or whatever it's called in sports, lifted the Zebras to the district, then the regional championships. They now have a 20-8 won-lost record. They are now two games away from the state crown.

And only a dangerous Grosse Pointe North and a fearsome pitcher by the name of Babcock stand between the Good News Zebras and the finals.

And for a lot of reasons, we think when the smoke clears Saturday at Wyandotte, the Good News Zebras will be the next Class A state champs.

They've been surprising everyone, having fun as the underdogs, the Davids vs. the Goliaths — they're the Cinderella team — and all that champs are made of.

Good News Bears, keep the good news coming.

An unsigned letter ignites heated debate

One of my very favorite Presidents, whom I still admire greatly was Harry Truman. Two of his favorite sayings were, "The buck stops here" referring to his desk and, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen."

Recently, as an elected Trustee of Canton Township, I received in my official board packet through the Township, an unsigned letter accusing the administration of the Fire Department of a complete failure to maintain their emergency ambulance units so that each of them had deteriorated to being in serious mechanical disorder. One unit had lost its motor because the oil allegedly had not been changed in three years, and a second unit had a bent frame and the fire fighters were refusing to drive it because they considered it to be unsafe. This was a terribly serious accusation, especially because Canton Township only has three emergency ambulance units to respond for the entire 36 square mile area and almost 50,000 person population.

Many senior citizens as well as all of the people of Canton Township depend greatly on Canton's emergency medical ambulance response in case of severe medical crisis when seconds and minutes can mean the difference between survival or severe family loss.

Because of that unsigned letter, I was faced with both of Harry Truman's favorite sayings. I could have passed the buck onto someone else and hope that in time the difficulty would be fixed and our medical emergency ambulances would again be serviceable for all Canton residents or I could, as I did, decide that the buck stopped at my desk.

As soon as I received the letter, I went to the fire station and examined personally all the maintenance records available for the three medical units. I then called the Chief of the Fire Department, whom I have known for many, many years and whom I consider a friend. I Chief was in a meeting and said that he would get back to me either personally or by phone before the Township Board meeting that evening. I requested and received permission from the Fire Chief to take the emergency vehicle maintenance records to the Township board meeting.

Evidently the Chief was busy all day and was unable to get back to me prior to the Township board meeting. I was able, however, to find the Chief about 30 minutes before the Board meeting was to start and give him a photocopy of the unsigned letter and discuss its contents with him. He admitted that his records for mechanical maintenance of the emergency ambulance vehicles were poorly kept and again made the same admission during the public meeting later.

The choice that I was forced to make was whether or not this possible life threatening situation concerning our medical ambulances should be dealt with in public at an open meeting, or behind closed doors. I also had to decide whether or not I was elected to represent the people of Canton Township or employees of Canton Township. I have always felt that critical Township business vitally concerning any segment of our population should be dealt with in open public meetings. It must also be understood that a Trustee's job is not a 9 to 5 employment and that a Trustee only has Township board meetings as an opportunity to effect substantial change within the community. I read the letter at an open meeting, encouraged discussion and requested a committee be formed to investigate the matter.

The result was the convening of a committee to investigate the situation at the fire department as to the mechanical readiness of not only the emergency ambulances, but also all of the approximately $700,000 worth of equipment belonging to the fire department. The committee, as you probably know, have decided that the equipment is in generally poor condition and needs instant and continuous attention in order to be properly serviceable. It should also be remembered that after the Canton Township Firefighters organized and requested and later justified the need for a full time apparatus mechanic, the Township board six months ago approved the hiring of such a mechanic.

The Township board has directed the Fire Chief to immediately order two more emergency medical ambulances to replace the two vehicles that are definitely not serviceable.

As a result of my actions, there has been substantial response of an unpleasant nature suggesting that the Fire Chief is a very nice man and that this information should not have been dealt with on a public basis, even though it turned out to be true. I strongly disagree. Now is when President Truman's second favorite saying, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen" comes into play.

When I was elected to be a public official, I assumed the sometimes unpleasant duty of speaking out publicly and strongly to protect the people I represent. I believe that I have done this in the case of the fire department emergency equipment and will continue to bring to the public any serious situation which may exist within the Township government as long as the public health, safety or welfare is concerned. I wish that all public officials on all levels of governments in this country would do the same.

In closing, and on a different subject, I would like to call to your attention the fact that on June 9th, the Plymouth-Canton schools is again asking for another millage vote. I view the unconscionable development of the Administrative staff of the school system over the past few years, to be so unwarranted and so lavish that I could not in good conscience support a millage increase in these hard economic times until the school system substantially decreases its administrative staff instead of constantly threatening to cut back on the quality of education for our children. On the Township level, we have demanded that any request for additional monies or any expenditures whatsoever be absolutely justified in writing before such requests are even considered much less granted. This area of our State is very automotive dependent and it seems to me that the school system has not bothered to justify clearly either the needs for additional monies or in the alternative the affect of failure to receive a positive millage vote. I believe it is their obligation to do so and moreover their obligation to respond to as critical and severely depressed economy. I hope you agree.

Kids and dogs

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"Do you miss George?" The question came from my grandson who was perched high on the sink eating an apple.

"Yep, I miss George," I told him but didn't think it was necessary to tell him it was really a good miss. No more having to walk in the backyard with a shovel in one hand; no more having to go to court because a poodle was eaten up; no more having to placate the neighbor who was cornered weekly by the fiercely barking dog who wouldn't hurt anything but poodles.

"I sure miss him, Grandma. I wish Uncle Allan would bring him back home. Will he take George up in a jet with him?" Another big bite from the apple occupied his attention while I stood there envisioning my kid flying a jet with George riding mascot.

"When dogs die do they go to heaven?" The little kid had a way of jumping from one topic to another.

"Oh sure," I answered him and turned my attention to the stove, while I visualized George going to heaven. I could see him going up to the pearly gates, probably getting there from swinging from jet to cloud. And if there were such a thing as no dogs allowed in heaven I knew that George would probably take a chunk out of St. Peter. That dog never showed any reverence for anything, particularly towards anything or anybody which stood in his way.

"What are you thinking, Grandma?" the little kid asked, finishing up his apple and shoving the core down the garbage disposal.

"About how George would get into heaven," I answered.

"Ha, that would be easy. He'd just go up and bark so loud and so long they'd let him in just to get him to shut up."

"Do you wish you had another dog, Grandma?" he continued his questions from the middle of the kitchen table, where he was searching the fruit bowl for a banana.

A tale of two persons

Graduation is a unique experience, but how can something so universal be unique?

Let me tell you the story of one Alma Brown whose graduation I personally wanted to attend last week, but because of an unfortunate incident here in the office I wasn't able to make it.

Like some 200 of her colleagues, Alma Brown last Tuesday was a recipient of a high school diploma. She worked hard and for many years dreamed upon receiving that "piece of pigskin" most of us cherish.

She had attended school in her native Arkansas but never quite managed to complete all of the requirements. She was short a few credits and her plight moved Congressman William Ford, who happens also to be the Chairman of the Interstate Migrant Task Force in Washington.

On Ford's committee is Donald Roberts, the director of the Department of Education for Arkansas. Roberts asked one of his assistants, Joe Miller, to see if he could find Ms. Brown's records.

Miller activated the computers and they coughed up all the pertinent data needed. The computer had to go back to the 1905-1909 era to find what classes Ms. Brown completed.

With those credits, and the ones Ms. Brown finished in the Adult Education classes, Ms. Brown received her diploma at Churchill High School last week.

You see, Alma Brown is 87 years old.

Todd Ehrhart is a farmer. He and his wife, Linda, and their two boys, Michael, 11, and Jeff, 9, live on a farm in Canton Township where they grow corn.

"It's a good, clean life," said the red-headed, freckled-face thin-as-a-telephone pole Ehrhart who moved from Dearborn with his family to his five acres on Ridge Road nearly a decade ago. Ehrhart also tills and plants his mother's 9 1/2 acres of land which is adjacent to his plot.

"We used to plant corn, that is until last year when we decided to get out of it," said Ehrhart. "There used to be a lot of opportunities in farming. They have greatly diminished."

Because of the urban sprawl? "No, not really," said the 36-year-old Ehrhart. "It's more financial than anything else. When you can't make a profit at what you're doing, then you have to look elsewhere."

"I could actually buy the corn for less than what it took to grow it. When you have to work from sun-up to sunset in sweltering heat, endure hardships, dust and sweat and rain, then find out that there is no real profit in what you're doing ... you're going to think twice."

Are American farmers on the way out? Will they become extinct?

"I don't think so. You know I really don't know — but I do know they're in trouble. It's a question of survival. Common sense will tell you if you're spending more than you're making, someday it'll catch up to you."

Ehrhart's visit to this newspaper's office wasn't for the purpose of expounding his philosophy on farming. He wanted "to give credit to some people and organizations like Allen Rae, Stanley E. Barkiewicz, Dr. Vachler and the Wayne Bank for sponsoring kids for the upcoming Wayne County 4-H Club Fair." The fair will be held in Belleville sometime in August.

The sponsors have provided two lambs each for the young Ehrharts to groom, feed, and get them ready for the fair.

"We've entered cattle before," the senior Ehrhart said, "this is the first time the kids will be showing lambs. And I just wanted the good folks out there to know that people still think about farms and farmers."

Poor alert system

EDITOR: Friday, May 30th, was a very educational day weather wise for this area. As a resident of Van Buren Estates subdivision in Van Buren Township, I learned we have a very inefficient civil defense and weather alert system.

Late Friday night after many Van Buren residents were snugly bedded down, a possible lethal storm system moved through our area. Had it not been for our weather alert radio, I might have never known the possible danger my family was being subjected to. As I awoke and began moving my family to safer surroundings in our basement, I began to wonder where the township weather alert sirens were. I opened all our windows, just in case, and finally off in the distance I heard our local sirens.

Monday, I called the township to ask why we have such a poor warning system. To my chagrin, I was told we have but three warning sirens in all of Van Buren Township and Belleville. Two of the sirens are south of I-94 in the city, one at the fire station and the other just behind Robertson's Cafeteria. The third siren is north of I-94 at the fire station on Ecorse by Belleville road.

After hearing this I easily understood why hundreds of families in our subdivision were unable to hear and react to the alert.

If I may, let me suggest a possible solution to this problem. We could place a civil defense and weather alert siren on top of each of our public school buildings. With the distribution of our schools we would be able to warn the greater portion of our township's population in an emergency.

The cost of such a system could be as high as $11,500 per siren. Though that may seem like a great deal of money in these troubled economic times, what is the price one puts on a human life?

If we do not do something to correct this problem we are simply asking for a disaster to happen. What is it going to take to get a proper warning system, another Kalamazoo?

Thanks, Romulus

EDITOR: I would like to take this opportunity to thank those who took an active participation in the City of Romulus' fourth annual week-long celebration of Michigan Week.

This year, the program was highlighted by an exchange of mayors with the City of Charlotte, Michigan. The burden of sponsoring eight days of activities is now shared by six different city organizations or departments (Chamber of Commerce, Wayne County Road Commission, Historical Society, Romulus Community Schools, Recreation Department and the Public Information Office), which means that Michigan Week has truly become a total community effort.

I believe setting aside a week once a year to recognize accomplishment, showcase achievement and exchange information is an appropriate and vital function of city government and am thankful for the part you played in making it most successful this year. I look forward to your continuing and active role in this anticipated annual event.

Where will taxes end?

EDITOR: I would like to know if anyone can tell me how the House and Senate can call the property tax bill a tax relief of $340 average? Maybe you can tell me where the savings are.

The school districts are asking for a raise of approximately 6 mills, the county is after 3 mills. To make matters worse, our city wants 4.9 mills. It looks like the schools, county and cities are in support of the Tisch bill they're helping to get it passed.

I, for one, will support and vote for the Tisch bill because there is no doubt about it. They have made a farce of the Headlee bill.

Oh, God, when will it end? The poor people on fixed incomes with taxes, electric bills, telephone bills and gas bills and the state keeps giving these companies every raise they ask for.

Editorial challenged

EDITOR: A recent guest editorial by CeJay Marshall, President of Holiday Estates Mobile Homeowners Association, contained a number of allegations and misstatements of fact that need to be answered and clarified.

The Mobile Home Commission Act became effective in 1977 and was passed by the Michigan legislature for the purpose of setting standards for the industry and protection for the consumer. Rules to implement the Act have been adopted in stages during the past three years and progress toward the stated goals has been made, but it is unrealistic to think that the problems caused by the benign neglect of the past 30 or 40 years will be cured overnight.

Some problems, like rent or "set-ups" of mobile homes prior to passage of PA 419, are not within the scope of the law.

The problems in the writer's park relating to set-ups are largely the result of past local inaction. Since the park was constructed and approved prior to passage of PA 419, the Mobile Home Commission's jurisdiction is limited. However, Mr. Futernick has been responding to individual complaints and voluntarily making corrections in cooperation with township officials.

Mr. Marshall conjectures that the bureau is covering up for Mr. Futernick because we have not revoked his license and closed the park or thrown him in jail. The administration law process has been explained to Mr. Marshall and he must realize that the process takes time and cannot be circumvented for justice to be served.

Should the allegations against the park owner be upheld in the hearings process, the statute makes provision for fines to be levied or the license to be revoked — but only after due process.

Further, it was not the intent of the statute to summarily close parks. Where good faith efforts are being made to comply with the law, it was the intent of the legislature that every effort should be made to keep the park in operation.

Mr. Marshall also alleges that the Mobile Home Commissioners may enjoy a "lucrative profit from this industry." The law provides for broad representation on the commission by consumer as well as industry interest and there is nothing in the law which requires industry representatives to discontinue their business interest. There is absolutely no evidence that commission members "profit" from being on the commission, as such. In fact, the evidence is to the contrary. They have devoted innumerable hours to commission business with no more compensation than a modest per diem and the many rules and regulations promulgated by the commission for the protection of the public have definitely added to the cost of doing business.

The question of rent control, which HB 5247 and SB 900 address, is more complex. Experience has shown that rent control often creates more problems than it solves. It often has a depressing effect on the industry, encouraging owners to abandon property or skimp on maintenance, discouraging new venture capital from entering the field, and furthering the monopolistic conditions to which the writer alludes.

Zoning restrictions by local governments have also had a dampening effect on expansion of mobile home parks, heightening the conditions that stifle competition needed to offer choices to the prospective mobile home owner.

Rent control may seem to offer a quick solution for current tenants caught in the tight squeeze, but does nothing to address the broader questions of future housing needs.

The Mobile Home Commission is acting, within the scope of the law which created it, to address problems brought to its attention and to adopt rules to prevent reoccurrence in the future; however, its jurisdiction is not unlimited. Through the bureau's Enforcement and Mobile Home Divisions, over 500 complaints were investigated and resolved during the past year and actions were recommended in other cases to be taken by the Attorney General's office. Where the state has no authority to act, or where the complainant believes the process is too slow, the Act does not deter Mr. Marshall or any other citizen from seeking private counsel and embarking on a private course of action through the courts.

Sincerely,
CARL L. TYSON

How do we reach Governor?

EDITOR: I am one of the 300 parents of the retarded children at the two Heartland Centres in Taylor and Wayne, Michigan.

In trying to convince Lansing and its various departments to purchase the nursing homes, we were told "we agree, now get to the Governor."

The problem is how to get to the Governor. At our meeting of "angry parents" Thursday evening, May 22, at the Norris School in Westland, we tried to explain how we feel to a Governor's Aide. He was to try to take our message back to the Governor, and parents were angry because "there's no way you can tell him what we feel, you are not taking notes, you don't have a tape recorder and I doubt you have a photographic mind."

At that meeting I said I have tried to be the VOICE of the parents who cannot write a letter to the Governor, or those who are afraid or too nervous to stand before a microphone, and in general those who will not be heard.

The State is determined to empty the large institutions in favor of community placement. To do this they must build, or rebuild homes and buildings, etc. once they have secured the cooperation of the various communities. These two facilities have already been accepted for five-seven years ago.

Country music fan is sad

EDITOR: I'm a big country music fan and I'm writing to say a few disappointing facts about the Michigan Opry in Wayne. I've been to some of the concerts and have been very pleased. Then all of a sudden with a Moe Bandy-Joe Stampley concert, the owner decides he wouldn't show up, and left all of Joe and Joe's fans very disappointed. (The concert was cancelled).

Next thing you know the owner is back and trying to make up for what he did. He refunded the ticket money and gave all ticket holders Barbara Mandrell guest passes, assuring us all that she would be here for sure. On her night to come, they cancelled her show too.

The people who run that place had to know there wasn't going to be any concert, so why did they try so hard to get everyone to buy her tickets? After what they did to Moe and Joe, can you blame anyone else for not coming?

When you call up the people at the Opry and ask them questions, all they do is lie! The owner complains of not having enough business, but can you blame people for not coming when you have to pay $12.50 apiece for tickets, and then they end up canceling the concert anyway?

Now they plan on closing the place down for a good month or so, and then re-open up to Western Jamboree 2 times a week, and rock and roll 2 times a week. What does that leave us country fans to do? Nothing! That has been the really only kind of enjoyment in the city of Wayne, and now we can't even count on that.

I don't think it's fair to bring rock-n-roll to this place. Why don't they let the building stay Country all the way? If they do, then you'll have a lot of satisfied people.

Board member is grateful

EDITOR: I am grateful to the citizens of Romulus for allowing me the privilege of serving their children these past four years as a member of the Romulus Board of Education.

Although the times have been difficult and many decisions painful, the opportunity to face challenges and to work alongside such fine fellow Board members has been a monument to learning and one for which I will be forever grateful.

I wish only the best for our children and sincerely hope others will come to enjoy the personal satisfaction derived from working with dedicated teachers and talented administrators for the good of education in Romulus.

Mrs. Beard explains

EDITOR: Please allow me to correct some items that have appeared in recent columns in your newspaper. A few weeks ago it was stated that the county had raised taxes and that Inkster taxes would increase by $14 per thousand dollars valuation.

I have checked this very carefully with Mr. George McEachran, the Director of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation, and find that this is incorrect.

State law requires that property must be assessed at 50 percent of true cash value. However, the average assessment in Inkster is currently at 40.42 percent of true cash value, which means that an adjustment must be made to comply with state law. Mr. McEachran informs me that that adjustment would mean an increase of approximately $1.90 per thousand, not $14.00. (Incidentally, the last re-assessment in Inkster was in 1973). The current valuation is determined by dividing the market value of homes being sold into the assessed valuation, which equals the actual percentage being taxed. Section 34 of the General Property Tax Act requires the county to equalize the assessments among the several cities and townships.

Also, the article said that the Board of Commissioners would be asking for an increase of 3 mills in county taxes on the August 5th ballot. This is incorrect. The Tax Allocation Board wants to put this on the ballot, but the General Government Committee of the Board of Commissioners returned this request to the Tax Allocation Board without action.

Because of some legal confusion over the timing of a possible vote on their request for additional millage, the Tax Allocation Board is restudying the problem.

Mother, love your girl

EDITOR: To the woman who hates her daughter, notice I did not refer to her as a lady.

Until she learns to love, she is just another woman to me. When she conquers love for her flesh and blood daughter, then I could address her as a lady.

In the first place she could not think it very hard to write about, since there will be thousands of people who will read her article and probably many who may feel as I do.

You're right, your daughter can't help it if your husband and yourself brought her into the world. It seems to me that you are a very selfish woman, who cannot accept your lot in life as God has given to you.

Wise up and quit feeling sorry for yourself. Career can come after you have raised your daughter. (Give her a chance to have a mom who loves her). You never said how old your daughter is.

You say your doctor put you on birth control and you got pregnant anyway. Isn't this alone enough for you to accept this was God's will for your life?

And why shouldn't your husband's career be going good, you wouldn't want it to be at zero (or would you)?

Your daughter has one good thing going for her: this is that her father loves her, which is more than you can say.

Wise up and quit thinking of yourself and no one else, before your daughter turns out like mom and passes this on to your grandchildren. Which I hope and pray you will love very much.

Seek professional help and pray God forgives you of your thoughts and actions (before someone really gets hurt).

I feel sorry for you, but most of all I feel sorry for your daughter who is the victim without choice.

Ask Carol Premo

Do you write your own letters?

By CAROL PREMO, Ph.D.

DEAR CAROL,

Is it true that people really write you all these letters? So many of them sound the same. Although I enjoy your column, people I know just don't seem to talk the way, they sound in your column. Do you print all the letters or just some?

Curious

DEAR CURIOUS,

I received your letter a few weeks ago but haven't had the space to print it. Now, however, I am delighted to print it.

I try to answer all letters regardless of content. Some are edited to make them coherent. If profanity or persons' names are used, these are removed while leaving the general gist of the letter intact.

This could account for some of the "sameness" you perceive.

One of the purposes of this column is to introduce my readers to all different kinds of people, values and attitudes.

In our daily life we tend to associate with those people who most closely reflect our own tastes and values. We rarely become close to those who are "different." So, when people say, "Hey, my friends aren't like that, they don't talk like that," all I can say is look around, you're not the only one here.

DEAR CAROL,

You print a lot of letters from a lot of people who say they have problems. I know most of them are women. Why don't they write about their real problems. The only problem these dames have is how to hook a guy. I know it is true and I can prove it.

Look at girls and how they act when they are not married. They fix themselves up, wear shorts and try to look real sexy. They try to look sexy just to get some guy interested in them. This is their only purpose in life. Then, when they get them, wham!, everything goes to hell.

They are sloppy, wear baggy clothes and never show any interest in sex. They just look for a free meal ticket. I just wish they and you would tell it like it is so that guys would know the score and wise up.

Been there.

DEAR BEEN THERE,

Been where? Wherever it is it sounds like a terrible place to visit let alone live. You give quite an indictment on men and women alike.

The reason I don't tell it the way you see is that that is not how I see it. What I see is men and women all over struggling for growth, trying for understanding, finding love, losing it, experiencing pain and joy.

Sure, some people try to manipulate, to hurt others, but not all by any means. Most people try to get their act together and many make it.

However, Been There, let's just assume for a moment that we are in your world. Here men only look at women for sex, as sex objects. Well, then perhaps they deserve what they get. That would be called ironic justice.

And what of the women who change so dramatically after marriage? What kind of pain or suffering would they experience in your world to so thoroughly sap them of their spirit?

Makes you think, doesn't it?

Hospital report

Children having children

Today we find very young teen-agers coming to hospitals, clinics, and offices for prenatal care. Thirteen, fourteen, and fifteen-year-olds are returning for their second pregnancy.

It is important that these young people develop a meaningful relationship with a health care professional such as a doctor, nurse, or social worker.

Any one of these people could be the special link this teen-ager needs to make the best of her prenatal care.

A nurse practitioner, for example, could follow both the pregnant teenager and her baby. This bond helps to develop a trust and ease of communication that can overcome many obstacles.

Encouragement to attend prenatal classes can help the young woman to deal with the problems that most certainly are created by being so young and pregnant.

In these classes, the nurse-instructor explains some of the feelings, both physical and emotional, that the young girl may be experiencing.

Pregnant teen-agers also need instruction and reinforcement about correct nutrition; stress is placed on the four basic groups of food and not on alcohol, pop, fried foods, potato chips, or other commonly called "junk foods."

Prenatal classes are important for the father of the baby. Parenting ideas are discussed, and this may be the first time the new mother and father have thought of themselves as "parents."

Along with the wide range of problems and situations that are produced by being young and pregnant, the stress involved in being unmarried magnifies these problems many times.

In these times, many pregnant teen-agers find themselves in this situation.

It has also become quite usual not to resort to adoption placement but to undertake to keep and raise the child as a single parent. Preparation for this role is a major problem.

To assist with these problems, it is also important that the teenagers have group discussions or "rap sessions" where concerns that are bothering them can be discussed openly.

Topics at these sessions could include promotion of general health, self-concept, parenting, adjustment, and nutrition.

The community has started to realize the problems of the pregnant teen and has developed systems within the school districts to enable the teenager to continue her educational opportunities.

Wherever the pregnant teens may be, they need to be directed toward these programs; they are many and varied and designed specifically for them.

One such area for treatment is Wayne County General Hospital. The OB-GYN Clinic is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (722-2500 extension 6522) and offers all of the above-mentioned programs.

Let's all try to redirect our young to realizing the seriousness of children having children and the many problems this creates.

Wayne, Perusse rock Farmington

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Like the thunder that shook the earth on Saturday, Wayne Memorial continued its baseball turbulence and rocked North Farmington 2-0 to reach the finals of the Class A regional championships held at Wyandotte Memorial Stadium.

Wayne's senior righthander Dan Perusse looked like Zeus himself to the Northmen who managed only three hits in seven innings. Perusse threw bolts of fastballs past the Northwest Suburban co-champs. He raised his personal pitching record to 8-1 on the season and added eight more strikeouts, walked four in rumble and rain.

However, the unpredictable elements forced the cancellation of the second game between Garden City West and Trenton. West had a 3-0 lead before officials called the game in the third. The two teams were scheduled to meet at 2 p.m.

Monday. The winner will take on Wayne for the regional title and the right to advance to the state semi-finals.

The semi-final and final rounds of the Class A state championship will also be held at Wyandotte Memorial on Saturday.

In the meantime, Livonia Franklin stayed alive in post-season play. The Patriots had a 3-2 edge over Warren Mott before officials were forced to call the game because of rain at Hazel Park. The two teams were to meet Monday to finish their duel. The winner must beat Detroit Northwestern, which ousted Detroit Northwestern, in order to qualify for the semi-finals.

Perusse was as quick as a piranha attacking flesh. But he was in trouble on three separate occasions due to North's speed.

"Danny managed to pitch out of a number of jams not of his own doing but because of North Farmington's speed which provided them with a number of stolen bases," said Jim Chronowski, Wayne's head coach. Will Coach Chronowski use Perusse with only one day of rest against the winner of the West-Trenton game?

"No," Chronowski replied, "I have Mike Blair and Larry Reid ready to go." Wayne got to North's starting hurler Matt Rudd for one run in the first inning. The lefthanded pitcher gave up an insurance run in the bottom of the fifth as he wound up his prep career tossing an 8-hitter. Rudd struck out seven, walked one and hit one batsman.

In the first inning, Wayne's Joe Guetta was safe on an error, moved to second when Mike Blair singled.

Perusse then hit into a fielder's choice which erased Blair at second. Rudd walked Larry Reid and hit Ken Browne with a wild pitch, forcing in the first run.

Rudd got out of the inning thanks to a double play — pitcher to home to first.

That Wayne insurance run got on the scoreboard like this: Perusse singled, stole second, but was lifted for pinchrunner, Rick Covault. Larry Reid's single chased in the final run.

Wayne will take a 19-8 won-lost record into the regional finals.

After three innings, Franklin and Brad George had a slim 3-2 edge over Warren Mott. Drizzling most of the time, Franklin quickly went to work and put two runs on the board in the second inning when Dave Rettig was safe on an error, raced to second on Dave Gourlay's single.

With the hit-and-run on, Bill Yates came through with a single to drive in both runs.

In the bottom of the third the Livonians broke a 2-all knot as Herb McManaway walked, moved to third on a Doug White single and raced home when Rettig latched on to a sacrifice fly.

"It was drizzling all through the game and in the top of the fourth the ump's decided to call it," said Franklin Coach Gerry Cullin.

The Sports Meridian

At 9, he's a karate

black belter

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

He isn't the pugnacious, brash, challenging kid one would usually associate with the sport.

In fact, four feet, three inch, hazel-eyed, blond-haired John Jason who will turn 10 on September 24 doesn't look like the bolt of lightning his Karate instructor, Ron Rose, says he is.

"Jason is the first pre-teen who has earned a black belt in Karate that I have trained," said Rose who owns and is the Karate expert at the Wayne Karate Studio. "He's a rather shy boy and doesn't like to boast about his achievements."

Jason probably is the first pre-teen black belter this area has produced. The black belt is symbolic of the sports' highest achievement. The honor is earned through a testing procedure which requires a written examination, execution of exercises that demand coordination, balance, power, concentration and self-discipline. There is actual sparring involved as well.

"There are nine degrees in all for black belt," Rose explained, "and it takes years to promote oneself within the black belt ranks."

For nine-year-old Jason it all began 2½ years ago.

"I felt the boys at school were picking on me," said Jason with a smile that reflected pure charm and innocence rather than anything devious. "They don't," he continued, "pick on me any more."

En route to that black belt, Jason has won many age-group tournaments. He has received a "Certificate of Appreciation" for contributing to the success of Tae Kwon Do Chung Do Kwan — which translated is karate (I think) from Edward B. Sell, president of the association. Sell is one of the few Americans to earn a ninth degree black belt.

"Instructor Rose has been an inspirational leader for John since day one," says Sylvester Jason, John's father. "The discipline which he has acquired from this art has helped him in school and in his relationship with his peers."

"I've watched him go up against people who are extremely taller than he is and I'm very proud at the way he handles himself. I think, in fact, I know he's picked the right sport."

Karate was extremely popular during the early sixties when social unrest, compounded by the always present criminal elements, convinced many that karate was the best method of self defense and self preservation.

Is the sport in trouble today?

"I really don't have any facts or figures to offer," said Rose, "but I feel that we will always remain a 'body-conscious' society. Look at all the running people are doing nowadays. Why? It's to keep in shape."

"I feel however that karate provides the best means to reach one's goals of mental and physical preparedness," Rose added. "Karate is mental and physical therapy."

Rose stressed that "there are so many different aspects to the arts that the price one pays gives him — or her — an edge on life."

It's not then all bloody noses, breaking jaws with feet or hands coming down on wood or necks like sharp knives?

"Only in the movies," Rose replied. "And movies are made of celluloid. They deal with the unreal — we work with the real."

Glenn is best in Northwest

Soph provides Rockets with winning spark

Sparked by sophomore Kelly Graham's four gold medal winning performances, undefeated Westland John Glenn captured the 1980 version of the Northwest Suburban Conference girls' track & field championship.

Miss Graham, who placed second in the state in the 220-yard hurdles, setting a school record at 28.9, and finished sixth at state in the 110-yard hurdles, contributed four of nine conference victories posted by the Westlanders.

"You'll be hearing a lot of this young lady," said Glenn Coach Cheryl Coyle. "She is a hard-working athlete with a lot of natural talent, in fact, she's a phenomenon." Coach Coyle however may not be around to train Graham next year. Because of declining enrollment in the school district, Coyle may lose her coaching position at the high school.

"I really don't know what will happen, but if I am bumped, I will miss coaching," Ms. Coyle added. At the state finals, Graham finished second to Flint Northern's Tanya Lowe who ran a 28 flat in the 220 hurdles and beat the Westlander in the 110 with a 13.6 performance.

Kelly dominated the league, however. She was clocked in 11.9 in the 110-yard dash; ran a record 30.5 in the 220 and picked up gold in 110 hurdles and the open 220.

Glenn also received outstanding efforts from Jean Burt, who was crowned league champ in the Open 440 (60.4) and by miler Lisa Ohlrich, who set a league record at 5:30.5.

Melissa Corliss was the conference champ in the long jump. Her leap of 15 feet, 10½ inches stood up for the victory.

The Westlanders' 440-yard relay made up of Gail Cesarz, Corliss, Lynda Carlson and Shawn Taft turned in the winning time of 52.8, while the mile relay team set a record in winning the event in 4:10.5.

Maureen Brunning, Carlson, Karen Scarborough and Jean Burt combined their efforts to win the mile.

Belleville is 'bridesmaid' again

After tying a three-way knot for the league championship, Belleville High's girls' softball team settled for a "bridesmaid" role at the Class A district playoffs.

Coach Peg Curtis's softballers lost a cliffhanger, 5-4, to Ann Arbor Huron who went on to win the district championship.

"This is the second year we have lost by one run to the team that has won the districts," Coach Curtis pointed out. "Last year Wayne edged us 8-7 in nine innings. I guess we're always the bridesmaids but never the bride."

The loss left the Tigers with an enviable 21-4 won-lost season record. They were 10-2 in the Sub-7, a record duplicated by two other teams —

Plymouth Salem and Livonia Bentley.

Belleville placed three players on this year's all-conference team — they are Betsy Nota, Laura Houle and Vickie Forest.

Nota, a senior who'll continue her education and athletic career at Eastern or Western Michigan University, was considered the premier pitcher in the league. She struck out 66, walked 52 and had earned an average of .329. She won 10 of 11 games. Miss Nota also had a .333 batting average.

Houle is making her second appearance on the league. As the senior third baseman, she led the league in batting with .552 and finished with an over-all batting average of .552. Laura received a full ride scholarship in basketball to Henry Ford Community College.

Forest was awarded all-conference consideration after batting .324 in the league and .333 for the season. She wound up with 14 RBIs and accounted for 14 stolen bases.

Two others — Alisa Ray, a senior second baseman, and Linda Spino, a senior catcher, helped form the nucleus of the winning team.

"Linda is an outstanding defensive catcher," said Coach Curtis. "She had 21 putouts and 20 assists with only one error and that was when she was switched to shortstop for a game. There were 26 attempted stolen bases against us, and Linda threw out 17 of them."

Ray, who will be attending the University of Michigan in the fall, batted .276 in the league and .303 over-all. She laced eight extra base hits, two of those going for round-trippers.

Class 'A' only, please

Westland seeks softball teams for slo-pitch tourney

Westland Department of Parks and Recreation and the Amateur Softball Association of America will be hosts for the Men's Class "A" Slo-Pitch Tournament scheduled for July 12 and 13.

The tournament will be a Class "A" Metro qualifier. The winner will advance to the Metro Detroit ASA finals in August. All games will be played at Jaycee Park, Wildwood and Hunter, and Central City Park, behind City Hall in the new Recreation Complex on Ford Road, in Westland.

Area teams are invited to enter. All teams must be ASA registered. Teams may register when they enter the tournament. ASA registration fee is $15 per team. Entry fee has been set at $85 for the double-elimination tournament. All play will be governed by the Amateur Softball Association 1980 Rules.

Individual and team trophies will be awarded to the first and second place finishers. Also, the first place finishers will be automatically seeded in the Class A Metro Detroit Final with their entry fee prepaid.

Entries for the Men's Tournament will be limited to 16 teams. Registrations will be accepted Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Westland Multi-Purpose Arena, 6210 North Wildwood, Westland.

For more information contact 729-4560.

Deadline for all entries will be Friday, June 27, at 5:00 p.m.

Walker wins 'super bowl'

Wayne's Larry Walker strolled off with $600 in first place prize money in the May Edition of the B.C.'s Super Bowl Sweeps.

Walker, a lanky southpaw, buried runnerup, Rick Siedlaczek of Ypsilanti, 227-161, in the championship match.

Mike Hayes of Canton led the qualifying field with 629 but fell to Siedlaczek in the semi-final match 220-160. The June Sweeps will be held Sunday, June 22 at 11 a.m. at the Super Bowl.

SCOTTY COLLINS

Collins earns Big-8 conference honors

Scotty Collins, an All-State baseball player who prepped at Canton High, helped the University of Missouri to its best season in 16 years and earned honorable mention all-Big Eight as a third baseman.

Collins batted .452 for the Missouri Tigers. He collected 56 hits in 188 times at the plate. He also connected for 28 RBIs, seven doubles, three triples and one home.

Missouri captured the 1980 conference championship. The Tigers ended their most successful season since 1964 at the NCAA Midwest Regional in Tulsa where the Tigers defeated Wichita State 5-4, and Arkansas 6-0 before being eliminated in losses to Nevada-Las Vegas 10-2, and the Pacific 10 champ, California, 2-1, in a 14 inning affair.

Red Wings, TV stars clash in Romulus

Check Sunday, June 22 on your calendar.

The reason? That's when the Detroit Sports Broadcasters' Association, led by the unpredictable TV 2 weathercaster, Sonny Elliot, will take on the Red Wings For 'Em Club.

And the clash at Elmer Johnson Park softball diamond will produce a lot of excitement for the fans and dollars for the fight against Muscular Dystrophy.

The featured celebrity softball game, which will get underway at 3 p.m. after the Romulus women's all-stars take on their counterparts from Wayne, will bring together Red Wings Jimmy Rutherford, Willie Huber, Dale McCourt, Paul Woods, Mike Foligno, George Lysler and former Wing goalie Eddie Giacomini and assistant trainer Danny Olsevitich.

On the other side will be sports broadcasters such as Mark Andrews of WOMC, Fred Manfra and John Bell from WWJ, Jim Brandstatter from Channel 4 and Eli Zaret of WRIF.

Also on hand will be Dan Ewald, head of the Detroit Tigers public relations department, and his colleague, Bob Miller. Joe Gentile, of radio and TV fame, will handle the public address system and score keeper.

"We're hoping to have a real big crowd on hand," said Dennis Davidson, Romulus Park and Recreation director. "These celebrities will be available for autographs later on in the program."

Other games scheduled that day will feature Romulus Class A All-Stars vs. Westland Class A All-Stars

For charity

More apt at predicting weather conditions than the outcome of softball games, veteran TV 2 weathercaster, Sonny Elliot describes in gory detail to Dennis Davidson (at right), Romulus Parks and Recreation Director, what the Detroit Sports Broadcasters plan to do to the Detroit Red Wings Professional Hockey Club. The two prominent teams will meet June 22 at Elmer Johnson Park in Romulus for the second annual Celebrity Softball Game.

and the City of Romulus employees will collide with a team made up of the Chamber of Commerce representatives.

Donations will be $2 for adults and free admission for children under 12 years old. Proceeds will be donated to Muscular Dystrophy.

Do you want to play soccer

The Westland Youth Soccer League is accepting registration for its fall season. League officials have set aside three dates for potential players to sign up.

Those dates are June 14, July 10 and July 16 and players, ages 5 to 18, can sign up between the hours of 7 to 9 p.m. at the Mel Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road. There is a $17 per player or $40 maximum per family registration fee.

Soccer League. The check and the registration form may be mailed to WYSL, P.O. Box 487, Westland, Michigan 48185.

Deadline for mail-in registration is July 21.

The fall season is scheduled to begin the first week of September and will continue until Oct. 25. Saturday games are set for 5 to 12 year olds; Sundays are reserved for the 13 to 18 age group.

KAREN SCHAFER

All-league

Karen Schaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schaffer, Westland, has been chosen to the first team all MIAC Conference softball squad. The Michigan Independent Athletic League is made up of schools in the tri-county area.

Schaffer played either shortstop or catcher for Huron Valley Lutheran High School. She batted .528 with 18 RBI's, three home runs, and 34 stolen bases. This is the senior's second all conference first team softball selection.

Named to the conference's second team was Debbie Novotny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Novotny of Westland.

Brewers set Romulus Little League pace

Despite inclement weather and constant rains, Daly Drive-In's Brewers continue to set the pace in the Romulus South Little League.

After dropping a tough one to Colburn Shell Cardinals, the Brewers bounced back to edge the Cardinals 4-3 in extra innings for their seventh win in eight outings.

Todd Wallace, who struck out 15, walked three, and scattered 7 hits, claimed the victory.

The Brewers took an early 1-0 lead which held until the fifth inning when the Cardinals came back with three runs on consecutive hits by Matt Percy, Chris Ottenbreit and Tim Holt.

But the Brewers came right back to tie the game with a lead-off double by Wallace, and with the help of an error.

Ray Langley connected for his first hit of the season to knock in the tying run.

And, as the game went into extra innings, Duane Hess led off the eighth inning with a single, stole second and third base, and scored the winning run for the Brewers on a base hit by Matt Bossory.

Hess, who went 2 for 3 for the Brewers, scored three of the four game runs.

In another contest, the Brewers took a close one again from the Baum Funeral Home Giants, 5-3 to improve their record to 7-1 over-all for the season.

Bossory, Wallace and Tim Burke had key hits in the Brewers' victory as pitcher Chris Marsiglia picked up his third win of the season.

Wheat germ shortcake

Plump juicy Michigan strawberries are about ready to burst on the dessert scene and what better way to serve them is there than strawberry shortcake. But here's a new twist ... Strawberry shortcake with a new wheat germ crust that is beautiful to look at and scrumptious to eat.

Even the most health conscious among us are not ready to give up desserts entirely. Instead, the choice is likely to be wholesome fruit desserts with real nutritive value. And that's where wheat germ fits in.

The shortcake is made in a jiffy from biscuit mix combined with $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of regular wheat germ or wheat germ with sugar and honey. Note that a little more biscuit mix is used with the lightly sweetened cereal. Wheat germ makes the crust tender and flavorful. Note too, the small amount of sugar and butter added — just enough, in fact, for sweetness and texture. The shortcake is baked in two 7-inch rounds until lightly browned. To serve, simply stack the layers with sliced fresh strawberries and whipped cream between and on top. This classic summer dessert makes six sensibly-sized servings.

Nutritious wheat germ is about the handiest food around for helping to balance the diet. Take the "two shakes for breakfast" plan. By simply sprinkling from the jar one ounce, or a quarter cup, of wheat germ on your morning cereal you've added an important amount of protein, vitamin E, iron and B vitamins to your daily diet. Both regular wheat germ and wheat germ with sugar & honey are vacuum packed to preserve freshness. Before packing wheat germ is lightly toasted to enhance the flavor. A completely natural cereal, there are no preservatives or chemicals in either flavor. After opening, wheat germ should be stored in the refrigerator.

WHEAT GERM SHORTCAKE WITH STRAWBERRIES

$\frac{1}{4}$ cups biscuit mix
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular, or sugar and honey $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. cinnamon
One-third cup water
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup melted butter
Wheat germ for sprinkling
1 quart strawberries, sliced and sugared
1 cup whipping cream, sweetened and whipped

Combine biscuit mix, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup wheat germ, sugar, cinnamon, water and butter. Divide in half. Drop each half on lightly greased baking sheet. Keeping surface rough pat into 7-inch circles. Sprinkle lightly with wheat germ. Bake in 400 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes or until bottom edges are lightly browned. Stack layers with strawberries and cream in center and on top. Sprinkle top lightly with wheat germ. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Use $\frac{1}{2}$ cups biscuit mix when using wheat germ with sugar and honey.

Silver year marked

The 25th Anniversary of their wedding day was observed May 24 by La Marr A. and Betty K. Gress of 49891 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville. The party, a buffet luncheon, was served to 80 guests and included a 3-tiered cake decorated with white and silver roses.

Hosting the celebration were the couple's children, Nanette K. and Mark S. Paladino of Romulus and Natalie B. Gress of Belleville.

Among those attending were Don Master and Mary Helen Fasing who had been best man and maid of honor at the Gress wedding in Jackson on May 21, 1955.

Members of the First Presbyterian Church of Ypsilanti, Mr. Gress is an accountant for General Motors at Willow Run and his wife is a homemaker.

Congratulations, CLASS OF '80

Blocks to mark 60th anniversary at open house

An open house honoring the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Block is planned by their children and grandchildren who invite the couple's friends to stop by between 1 and 5 p.m. on Sunday, June 15. Cake and coffee will be served while guests talk over "old times" with Fred and Minnie at their home at 29163 Eureka Road.

Mrs. Block was Minnie Eberlien of Taylor Center when she exchanged nuptial vows with Fred Block on June 12, 1920 at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Taylor where they are still members.

To their union three children were born: Earl, now deceased; Fred Junior Block, now a councilman for the City of Romulus, who lives there with his wife Lorraine; and Mrs. William (Joyce) Stears who, with her husband, operates the Stears Tru-Value Hardware Store on Eureka Road. The family tree also includes 12 grandchildren and four great-children.

Among those expected to attend the little celebration are four members of the 1920 wedding party: Ernest and Lillian Block of Flat Rock, Louis Much of Dearborn and Ferdinand Lange of Taylor.

The Blocks have lived on the family farm, purchased from Fred's aunt in 1877, all their married lives. In 1924 they moved the old Texas schoolhouse from Goddard Road to a corner of the property at Middlebelt and Eureka and opened a grocery store and filling station; gas, they recall, being a mere eight cents per gallon. Middlebelt, the Blocks also reminisce, was being paved at the time when Fred was doing the butchering for local farmers and Minnie was enjoying baking and quilt making (for which she is quite well known.)

Still in good health at the ages of 86 and 81, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. Block enjoy working outdoors — she in her beautiful flower garden and he in his vegetable patch. Their farm has been designated for a future historical centennial plaque, the family history lacking only two years for the accolade.

Meet Elaine Powers.

The figure control system that has helped thousands of American women to lose pounds and inches was developed by Richard Proctor — a man with a mission.

His mission — to give women a balanced approach to trimming and slimming. He believes that any system which does not take the whole person into account will not work.

At Elaine Powers, his unique, smart eating plan is just as important as the exercise program. And the exercise is geared to what Richard Proctor believes women are willing and able to do to achieve results.

He has personally designed the exercise machines after experimentation and in-use testing with thousands of women — and they are unique in the exercise field.

But, beyond the eating and exercise program — Richard Proctor believes in the importance of a cheerful, friendly atmosphere where women can find support for their efforts and friends to help them along.

"It's not easy to change old habits," says Proctor. "At Elaine Powers we help women to change their attitudes as well as their dress size."

A native of Sacramento, California, who lives by the same rule of sensible eating and exercise he advocates — Richard Proctor has proven that his system gets results that extend beyond "body beautiful" goals. "Ultimately," he states, "it does wonderful things for your life."

$400 per week for the complete 4 month program.

Hawaiian Islands, Las Vegas are May honeymoon sites

A 2-weeks honeymoon on the Hawaiian Islands of Oahu, Maui and Kauai and time at Las Vegas followed the May 3 wedding of Diane Bies and Anthony Ray Ellis.

The young couple exchanged nuptial vows and rings at St. Anthony's Catholic Church with The Rev. Raymond Skoney presiding at the four o'clock rite. Some 200 relatives and friends witnessed the nuptial ceremony including Mr. and Mrs. Matthew G. Bies of 46545 Willis Rd., Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie R. Ellis of 1839 Crittendon Ave., Ypsilanti, parents of the bride and bridegroom.

For the occasion the altar was adorned with bouquets of peach, yellow and rust daisies and baby's breath to harmonize with the bouquets carried by the bridal attendants.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, Diane appeared in a traditional white gown designed in the empire mode with a Queen Ann neckline and long, tapered sleeves on the sata peau bodice which was accented with pearled Chantilly lace.

The toe-touching creation was complimented by a waltz-length veil of silk illusion and French Chantilly lace secured by a little pearled headpiece. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade arrangement of miniature white carnations, sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

As her sister's maid of honor, Teresa A. Bies of Kalamazoo donned an apricot and rust print frock fashioned with an accordion pleated skirt and scoop necked bodice sashed in rust.

Others in the bridal coterie wearing identical dresses were Mrs. Connee Roeser of Belleville; Debbie Trudeau of Westland; Mrs. Pat Ellis of Ypsilanti, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Mrs. Terri Wald of Ypsilanti, sister of the bridegroom, and Susan Bies of Belleville, cousin of the bride.

Brad Susterka of Belleville was asked to serve as best man. The corps of ushers included Terry Pate and Kevin Owen of Ypsilanti; Jeff Smith of Belleville; Mark, John and Shawn Ellis of Ypsilanti, brothers of the bridegroom, and Randy Gruich of Westland, cousin of the bride.

At the reception which followed at UAW Local 735 on Michigan Avenue, the 325 guests were greeted by Mrs. Bies in a willow green gown styled with a knit bodice and pleated chiffon skirt. A corsage of off-white cymbidium orchids was pinned at the shoulder. Similar orchids in beige and brown tones were worn on the beige chiffon gown which Mrs. Ellis chose for the occasion.

Since returning from their honeymoon, the newlyweds have taken up residence at 48641 Denton Rd., Belleville.

Both Diane and her husband are 1972 graduates of Belleville High School. She spent three years at Eastern Michigan and Western Michigan Universities and now is working as a ticket agent for United Airlines at Detroit Metro Airport.

The bridegroom attended EMU for three years and is now working as general manager of Satellite Airport Parking at Detroit Metro Airport.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the Archie R. Ellises, was held at Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor.

Turning into a drive-in bank anymore gets to be one of the small challenges in life -- at least for me! For what usually looms ahead of me is a choice of about three lanes and all with an equal number of cars in them. Which lane to choose? I never get the chance to just sit back and see which one is about to move because, always, there's someone right behind me trying to eenie-meenie his way through the same stalls. What I'm leading up to is a "why is it so" list including:

- Why I always pick the line which ends up being the slowest moving at that money factory?
- Why so many wrong numbers (the ones that ring at our house) are dialed shortly after we've Z-Z-Z-ed off into slumberland?
- Why it's even possible (with a country full of so many brilliant and successful men and women) to have such a poor (lousy) choice of presidential candidates?
- Why you draw the "spiciest" waitress when you're trying to impress guests with your club?
- Why a "short cut" invariably turns out to be one of those winding, meandering roads or streets which utterly confuse you as to direction?
- Why so many things turn up missing from the dryer (the latest mystery bring a zippered pillow cover)?
- Why you run out of thread just about a half dozen stitches before you're finished?
- Why your most successful cake or dessert is a flop when you're expecting "first-time" guests?
- Why they insist on teaching new hymns in church and completely forget the old favorites?
- Why you always receive two invitations (two super ones) for the same day ... and same time?
- Why someone always says, "Cheez, I could have gotten that for you wholesale AFTER you've paid full retail price for it."
- Why I always run out of copy paper when I have only two more lines to type?

"The Night Letter", a paperback I picked up (to be more specific -- bought -- in case you're reading this, S.K.) at Miami Airport way back in January, finally had its spine broken recently and then was put to rest in a just a couple days.

It was to have wiled away the air hours between Florida and Michigan but somehow got bypassed in favor of conversation with seatmates. Then, each time I'd pick it up, I'd get a call from the library that some book I'd reserved was in and, again, "N.L." would sit by the wayside.

Anyway -- it's easy reading, interesting and definitely for the guy or gal who finds the Washington scene to his or her liking. Set in pre-World War II days, Paul Spike's story is (in a nutshell) about a roll of film which threatens to reveal the president (FDR's) secret love affair with his secretary.

Instigated by the rapidly-rising Nazi powers and its sympathizers here in the USA, the blackmail plot involved brings a former FBI agent into the picture and also shows the strange and savage rivalry between the British secret service and the J. Edgar Hoover "boys".

Since a good part of the novel is set in Dearborn, Mich. and even involves the aging auto magnate, Henry Ford himself, it brings the story "home" -- to River Rouge, the former Rotunda and even parts of Upper Michigan.

Not to be classed as "great" or "unforgettable", but good.

FOR TRIVIA LOVERS OF AMERICA (collected from TV's "Hollywood Squares") --

The old adage "Familiarity breeds contempt" (according to a study at the University of Michigan) is just the opposite. It was found that the more contact with a person, the more comfortable one feels.

Only once, in 1935, (and due to a storm) were the swallows late returning to Capistrano.

More chickens (the poultry breed) come from Georgia than any other place in the world.

Women who re-tell jokes well are in the minority. Men, according to a book on the subject, tell jokes much better.

According to the FBI, you're most likely to be a crime victim in Phoenix, Ariz., the city with the highest crime rate in the nation.

Psychologists have determined the three major events in life to be -- birth, marriage and death.

Contrary to popular opinion, George Washington never wore a wig but powdered his own hair and pulled it back in a ponytail. He was one of the very few colonialists who "did" his own hair.

Although you might think so, garbage collected in Hollywood is NOT significantly different from trash in places such as Schenectady or Des Moines. People tend to throw away the same things the country over.

AND HERE'S ANOTHER of those "where did it get its name" solutions. "Chicken Marengo", for instance, stemmed from a sudden scavenger hunt which took place on a historic day in June of the year 1800. That's when Napoleon won a decisive victory at Marengo, a battle that found its place not only in history books but in cookbooks as well.

For since it was the general's custom to refrain from eating until after the fighting was finished, he was not only victorious, but famished! Loudly, he demanded dinner for himself and his aides; an order not easily filled since they were in the front lines far from the supply wagons.

Of course, Napoleon was too astute to travel without his master chef and that intrepid man -- Dumand, by name -- sent soldiers to ransack the countryside for provisions. Alas, the search yielded a meager collection -- one undernourished hen, three eggs, six crayfish, a few tomatoes and a little garlic and oil. (One practical soldier brought back a sauce pan!)

Blending in more imagination than ingredients, the undaunted chef whipped up a meal right on the battlefield.

So triumphant was the result that Napoleon commanded, "Feed me like this after every battle." And "Poulet Marengo" won a lasting place on worldly dinner tables.

THE BOTTOM LINE: People rarely succeed at anything unless they enjoy doing it.

Paul Larry Siroskey

Former church deacon ordained

Father Paul Larry Siroskey, who served his deacon internship at St. Anthony parish in Belleville, was ordained into the priesthood May 31 at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral by Cardinal John Dearden, Archbishop of Detroit.

The son of Peter and Jeanne Sirowski of Divine Child parish in Dearborn, he attended Divine Child grade school and studied for the priesthood at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit and St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth. New valve corrects Fun Fountain

A program to correct more than 100,000 outdoor "Fun Fountain" water toys, which may cause serious injuries to children, is being conducted by the Wham-O Mfg. Co. of San Gabriel, Calif.

The firm, in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, voluntarily will supply free corrective water flow control valve inserts for its "Fun Fountain" toys produced from 1977 through November 1979.

The toy consists of a clown hat and head which attaches onto the end of a garden hose so that the hat rises in the air when water flows through the clown's head. Children may be inclined to peer into the water outlet and the stream of water could cause serious eye injuries, specially in communities with high water pressure.

CPSC so far has been informed of two consumer complaints since June 1979, involving a 6-year-old boy and a 7-year-old boy who suffered eye injuries when struck at close distance by water emitted from the "Fun Fountain" toys.

The Wham-O "Fun Fountain" water toys were sold nationwide in toy stores and variety stores for approximately $10 each. The model number of the toy, No. 237, is imprinted on the toy's package.

According to the company, the potential hazard has been corrected on all "Fun Fountain" toys manufactured since December, 1979 when the toys began to be produced with a water flow control valve to decrease and control the water flow. Such new editions are readily identifiable since they are equipped with a blue hose connector (the older design has a red connector) at the base of the clown head. The words "Important Notice" and "Safety Check List" also are imprinted on the new toy cartons.

If the hose connector is red but contains a blue insert which is clearly visible, then it also has been corrected and is equipped with a water flow control valve.

To correct the potential hazard in "Fun Fountain" toys manufactured before December 1979, parents are urged to go to the place of purchase to receive a free water flow control valve insert, or they may contact Wham-O directly to receive a free valve insert (Customer Service Dept. 7, 835 East El Monte St., San Gabriel, Calif., 91778). Consumers also may telephone Wham-O toll-free at 800-423-4174.

The water flow control valve snaps easily into the hose connector and once installed will remain firmly within the connector, according to the company.

Consumers wishing further information may call CPSC's toll-free hotline at 800-638-8326.

Driving cost rises $326 in Michigan

Driving costs for motorists in Michigan increased $356 during the last year, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

It costs Michiganians 21.8 cents per mile to operate their cars, or 12 percent more than the 19.4 cents a mile in 1979," said Auto Club touring manager Joseph Ratke.

Operating expenses for motorists who drive 15,000 miles annually will be $3,266 compared with $2,910 in 1979.

"A major reason for this year's increased costs is that gasoline prices rose nearly 60 cents per gallon since January 1979," Ratke pointed out. "Increased prices for new, American-made cars and higher finance charges also contributed to the higher operating costs."

The 21.8-cents figure is computed on 8.22 cents a mile for variable costs (gas, oil and maintenance) and 13.58 cents a mile for fixed costs (insurance, depreciation, license fees and finance charges).

Insurance was calculated on a pleasure use category with the vehicle driven less than 10 miles to work and with no youthful drivers.

Information from the booklet which was revised by Auto Club to include current Michigan gasoline prices, is based on a 1980 Chevrolet Malibu Classic 4-door sedan with a 6-cylinder, 229-cubic inch engine, standard accessories, automatic transmission, power steering, power disc brakes and radio, driven up to 15,000 miles per year and financed over a 3-year period.

MUCC offers lakes' guide

Copies of a 32-page index listing 2,500 mapped lakes in Michigan are available free to fishermen and boaters from the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

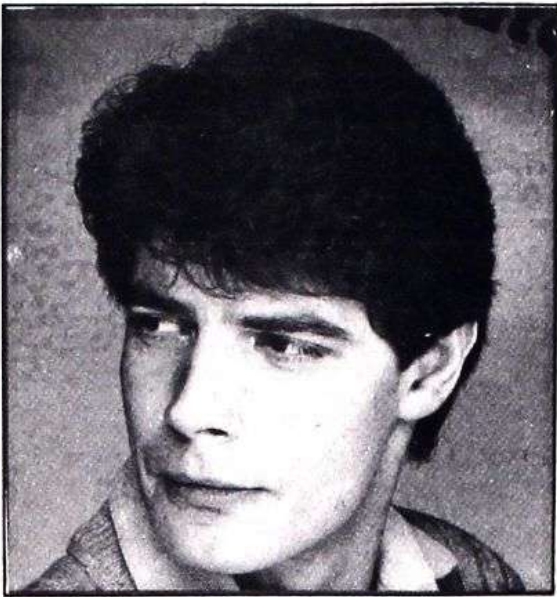

Arranged by counties, the index pinpoints the locations of Michigan's best lakes for fishing and boating, indicates the size of each lake, and explains how to obtain maps of each of the lakes.

The maps themselves show lake depths, shoreline contours, bottom types, and other characteristics of each lake - information that is helpful to fishermen and boaters and essential to fish management by the Department of Natural Resources, the agency that conducted the surveys on which the maps are based.

In addition to the lake maps listings, the index contains a chapter on "The Scientific Approach to Lake Fishing" and sections on topographic maps of Michigan and nautical charts of the Great Lakes and how to obtain them.

Copies of the index may be obtained by sending a self-addressed long, stamped (30 cents postage required) envelope to MUCC, box D-30235, Lansing 48909.

August altar date set

A summer wedding is being planned by Stacy Marie Rzepala of Romulus and Dean Charles Galuan of Westland. Their engagement and nuptial date are announced by Steve and Betty Rzepala of 9009 Hannan Rd., Romulus, parents of the bride-elect. A graduate of Edsel Ford High School and the Detroit Barber College, Miss Rzepala is currently working at the Kings Men Salon in Taylor. The prospective bridegroom, the son of Jesse and Ellen Galuan of 2811 Cadmus, Westland, is a Wayne Memorial High School graduate. At the present time he is employed as a custodian at Livonia Stevenson High School. An August 2 altar date has been set.

Sparr-Lawson rite read at City Hall

In a single ring ceremony at Romulus City Hall, Mary E. Lawson became the bride of George N. Sparr. The five o'clock rite was read April 18 by the Honorable William Oakley, Mayor of Romulus.

The bride, the daughter of Irene Fulmer of 1415 Campbell, Royal Oak, wore for the occasion a yellow crepe gown fashioned with a long pleated skirt, scoop neckline and cape sleeves. She tucked a comb with yellow daisies and baby's breath in her hair and had yellow baby roses, daisies and baby's breath for her flowers.

She was given in marriage by her oldest brother, Joseph Fulmer of Margate, Fla.

Linda Parkin of Ypsilanti was honor attendant in a long floral printed gown and maize floral blooms in her hair. Her flowers were pink, yellow and white daisies.

The bridegroom, the son of George and Ann Sparr of 28612 Avondale, Inkster, asked his friend, Richard Schwartz, to be best man.

Some 200 friends and relatives gathered for the wedding reception which followed at the VFW Hall in Romulus. Mrs. Fulmer chose for her daughter's wedding a blue print knee-length frock to which she pinned her corsage of white carnations. An identical corsage was presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned a long white gown with a companion cape.

A week-long honeymoon in Acapulco, Mexico followed the reception.

The new Mrs. Sparr is a graduate of St. Mary's High School in Wayne and is now working for General Motors in Ypsilanti. Her husband, who works as a fire dispatcher for the City of Romulus, graduated from Cherry Hill High School and serves as a volunteer fireman in Romulus.

Carol Ann Smith on Dean's List at Western U.

Among those who qualified for the Dean's List during the winter semester at Western Michigan University was Carol Ann Smith, a 1977 graduate of Belleville High School.

A junior in the School of Education, Miss Smith had a 3.5 grade point average for a second semester. To be eligible for the honor a student must earn a 3.5 (B plus) or better average. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert G. Smith of Tecumseh, formerly of Belleville.

Gary Sampson of Belleville was the surprised guest of honor May 31 at a birthday party planned by his wife, Carol; daughter Ann and son Trace.

Held at the Van Buren Township Hall, the event marked the man's big "Four-Oh" — his 40th birthday. On hand to join in the festivities and to offer their congratulations were some 175 guests from neighboring cities and as far away as Lake Havasu, Ariz. and Etawa, N.C.

Assisting the Sampson party-planners were John and Mary Duff, Jack and Rosemary Loria and Jeff and Elaine Burgess and son, Jeff, all of Belleville.

With Mickey Mouse as the theme for the occasion, the room was accented with hundreds of helium-filled black, red and yellow balloons. The focal point at the buffet table was a 24-pound cake made in three tiers with a full form Mickey Mouse on the top, the work of Joan Waller of Ypsilanti.

Cocktails at seven were followed by a buffet dinner at eight and dancing to a 4-piece band until the wee hours.

A variety of salads, Hawaiian banana cake, cherry crisp, punch and coffee were served after a number of party games had been played and houseplants awarded as prizes.

Centering the buffet was a cake made in the form of a baby sweater with tiny yellow and white flowers and the inscription, "Baby Pluff" atop. The honoree's cousin, Judy Harris of Belleville, made and decorated the cake.

STARS IN PRODUCTION

John Price, a 1977 graduate of Belleville High School, recently appeared in the starring role of Don Quixote in "Man of La Mancha" at Kirtland Community College where he is pursuing an associate degree in applied science.

While a student at BHS, Price was active in its drama and musical presentations, taking on such roles as the father of Anne in "The Diary of Anne Frank"; the butler in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown"; Colonel Pickering in "My Fair Lady" and Rif in "West Side Story."

BRAND NEW KNEE

Former Belleville businessman, Gaal Young (he operated Young's Market on Main Street for many years) was expected to be home by this writing after knee surgery performed May 30 at Port Huron Hospital. During his 5-day convalescence, his wife, Myrtle, was with him and his son, David, also spent an overnight at the border city.

Friends are welcome to call at the Young home on Bedell Street and see just how Gaal is progressing with his new leg joint.

BACK FROM ARIZONA

Joyce Hamrick and little daughter Julie, who's 10-months-old, are back at their home on West Huron River Drive in Belleville after two weeks in the Arizona sun.

Making the trip by plane, the twosome spent the time with Joyce's parents, Jim and Kathy Renton, formerly of Sheldon Road, Belleville, and enjoyed the sun, sightseeing, swimming and visiting.

The Rentons moved from this area the first of the year following his retirement. He currently is working for the City of Glendale where they reside.

Boston's 350th birthday part of local couple's trip

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Corzine of East Huron River Drive have returned home after a week with their son, Gordon Corzine and sons, Deven and Scott at Swampscott, Mass., a suburb of Boston. While there they had the pleasure of participating in the 350th birthday celebration of the city of Boston. They also took a trip in the harbor to view the "Tall Ship" from various foreign countries, which were anchored there for the occasion, and toured the city.

Last Wednesday evening dinner guests of Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street were relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Pryor from Indianapolis, Ind., who were spending their honeymoon in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Noll of Lansing are announcing the birth of their first child, a baby boy, on May 31 at Sparrow Hospital, weight 7 lbs. - 10 ozs., length 22-inches. The young man, whose mother is the former Kathleen Owen, has been named Joshua Daniel.

Proud grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Allen Chen of Belleville Road and the Walter Nollfs of Edison Street.

Former Belleville Road residents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Woods of Manchester, Tenn., spent several days recently with the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Murphy of East Huron River Drive. They called on friends in the city before going to Northport to attend the high school graduation of their grandson, Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Woods. They also spent some time with relatives in Taylor and Dearborn.

Recent weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ketchum of Harmony Lane were their son, Tom, and his wife, Hidi, of Kalamazoo.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street spent several days last week with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley of Sumpter Road, at the latter's summer home at Mecosta.

A former Liberty Street resident, Mrs. Betty Fulton of New Port Richey, Fla., has been visiting friends in the city before going on to Bellair to visit her son, Gary and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of West Columbia Avenue, attended the wedding of relatives, Terri Renke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Renke, to Keith Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Savage, all of Romulus, at St. Aloysius Church May 31. They also visited with relatives at the Savage home after the ceremony.

On Sunday, May 31, Miss Mildred Artley of West Columbia Avenue, Mrs. Helen Cullin of Sumpter Road and Mrs. Cora Bradshaw of Bedell Street motored to Litchfield, Ohio where they attended graduation exercises at Buckeye High School. Kelly Cullin, daughter of the Glenn Cullins, was a participant.

Others present from Belleville were Mrs. May Chapman of Belleville Road, Kelly's maternal grandmother; and Mrs. Lee Walls, her aunt, of Savage Road, who were overnight guests at the Glenn Cullin home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Robson of Tyler Road were last weekend guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Zimmer and family at Charlotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Orr of Crowley Street motored to Mt. Clemens last Tuesday where they called on Mr. Orr's brother-in-law, William Slove, who is seriously ill in Mt. Clemens General Hospital.

On May 25 Mrs.

Frances Korgal of Sumpter Road was guest of honor at a surprise retirement party given by her children, Frank and Barbara Korgal, Peter and Mary Korgal, and Genevieve and Jim Schultz.

The gala affair and bountiful dinner held at the Peter Korgal home on Hull Road was attended by 80 relatives and friends, including Frances' nine grandchildren.

Frances, who has retired after having been employed at Mels Cleaners for the past eight years, received many gifts including a purse of money and a lawn chair which she plans to use during the summer days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street were among many who attended the golden wedding anniversary of cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Anderson of Milan, held at the Free Methodist Church in Milan May 24.

Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Church Street were members of their family who attended a graduation open house May 25 honoring Kimberly Jahner, youngest daughter of the Gary Jahners of Tecumseh. Kimberly was president of the 1980 graduating class of Tecumseh High School.

Twenty-four members of the Wayne County Retired Teachers Club met at the Brass Bell for a dinner meeting on May 24. Mrs. Elsie Freitag of Dearborn gave a presentation with colored slides of her trip to New Zealand and Australia. Members were present from Dearborn, Flat Rock, Romulus, Canton, South Lyon and Belleville.

The senior citizens band, "The Kitchen Belles," put on a program on Tuesday for the candlelight luncheon honoring the Washtenaw County Senior volunteers held at West Bank Holiday Inn at Ann Arbor. Nearly 400 were present and several special awards were presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillman Mullreed of Madelon Street have returned home from Mt. Pleasant where they attended graduation activities of their grandchildren, daughters of Phyllis and William Figg. First, daughter Penny Nolan and her husband, Thomas, graduated with honors from Central Michigan University; then on May 31, daughter, Paula Figg, graduated from Mt. Pleasant High School. The Mullreeds returned home June 1.

Mrs. Aileen Mengel of Ann Arbor was a Sunday dinner guest of her mother, Mrs. Norman Miller Sr. of Second Street. On Tuesday Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. Gurtha Walters of Ypsilanti Township, spent the afternoon with her.

Junior Study Club has closing banquet

Thirteen members and three guests of the Belleville Junior Study Club gathered at Woodstone Inn for their traditional "Ladies Night Out" on May 21. Two special presentations were made during the evening, the first to Norma Lampert of Ann Arbor, a mother of six, who is studying practical nursing at Washtenaw Community College. She was awarded the club's fourth Genevieve Clark Scholarship in the amount of $300 given annually to a single female parent who is interested in furthering her education.

In other action the club president Cathy Horste presented blue and gold club president pins to Suzie Druker, 1978-80; Barb I. elter, 1976-78; Carol Fitch, 1974-76; Phyllis Smith, 1972-74 and Sharlene Tator, 1970-72. The pin was given in recognition of their years of service and many contributions to the organization.

This was the final meeting of the club year, the next session to take place on the third Wednesday in September.

June skies will show 'Rose Moon'

All the planets may be observed in June evening skies, along with earth's bright midsummer full moon, says University of Michigan astronomy professor Richard G. Teske.

The two innermost planets, Venus and Mercury, were viewed during the first week of June in evening twilight shortly after sunset. "Venus was low in the west, with fainter Mercury a short distance above and to the left," Teske said. "During the second week of June, Venus disappears from evening skies. After passing between the earth and the sun, it will reappear by month's end as the 'morning star'."

"Higher up in the southwest, the outer planets Mars, Jupiter and Saturn gleam brightly in dusk's darkening skies."

"But binoculars or a small telescope must be used after dark to pick out Uranus in the constellation Libra and Neptune in Ophiuchus." Both of these distant objects are low in the southwest about mid-June, he said.

Last of all, lying high overhead in the constellation Virgo is tiny Pluto—"too faint to be found except with the aid of a large telescope."

"Pluto's motion along its elliptical path carried it inside of Neptune's more circular orbit in January 1979," he added. "Since then, Neptune has been the outermost planet of the solar system."

"Only in 1999 will Pluto once more regain its title of most distant planet from the sun. Then, it again will cross Neptune's orbit, this time outward bound. But there is no danger that the two will ever collide, for Pluto's track carries it high above Neptune's at the orbital crossing points."

According to the U-M astronomer, summer begins at 1:47 a.m. June 21, when the sun reaches the summer solstice, the point where it is farthest north of the equator.

"When the sun is highest in summer, the full moon hangs lowest at night," Teske pointed out. "This year the midsummer full moon, called the Rose Moon, occurs on June 28. Since it rises and sets nearly as far to the south as the sun does to the north, the full moon's trajectory across the night sky is its shortest of the year."

Both the moon's brightness and the way its light changes during a month depend on the properties of its airless surface. However, he says, "like the planets, the moon shines by reflecting sunlight. A poor reflector, it sends back on the average about the same fraction of light as an asphalt parking lot."

Although the astronauts report that its color is a dull gray or dun brown, he continues, "we have come to think of the moon as being white and brilliant, because it is large and close by, and we do not have another large sunlit object in the night sky with which to compare it."

"The pattern of bright and dark features that delineates the 'Man in the Moon,'" explained Teske, "is due to differences in reflectivity from one region to another caused by difference in the chemical composition of the materials that make up its crust."

"The darker regions, called maria, are great lava flows that poured forth onto the surface billions of years ago."

"The light areas are called highlands, even though they are not always high. These regions, composed of rocks older than the lavas of the maria, date back to the moon's earliest beginnings."

How does the moon's brightness change throughout one lunar month?

"We might think, at first or last quarter when half the disk is sunlit, that the moon would send us just half as much light as at full phase," Teske responded. "But, in fact, the quarter moon is only one-tenth as bright as the full moon because of the rough surface."

"If it were smooth like a billiard ball, the moon would look much brighter at the quarter phases. But its outer skin is granular and pitted—a pounded powder created by eons of meteoritic bombardment."

"The tiny surface irregularities of the moon's dusty covering are responsible for the quarter-moon's faintness," Teske said, "just as the differences in chemical composition provide us with the 'Man in the Moon.'"

BBB prints new wise buying guide

The Better Business Bureau Guide To Wise Buying is an authoritative, 384-page, fact-packed book designed to help you fight inflation, get the most for your money, be more knowledgeable about your purchases and avoid headaches in the market-place, now is available to consumers and business firms in the Detroit area.

The guide book has a unique, new easy-to-use format. It is alphabetically arranged to cover over 100 different categories of goods and services. The contents represent an analysis of more than eight million consumer contacts during the past year at 146 BBB offices throughout the country to determine consumer areas of interest and concern.

Typical of more than 100 topics covered are (for the letter C) calculators, camps, carpets, charitable giving, clothing, condominiums and cooperatives and cosmetics; (under the letter T) appear, among other topics, television, tires, toys, travel agents, typewriters.

The book is a generic guide, not a comparison of brands or prices, and serves as a basic reference guide to enable the consumer to be wary as well as a wise buyer. There are special sections on credit and installment buying, fraud and deception, legal services, refunds and exchanges, warranties, and a final chapter on "What To Do If You Are Dissatisfied."

The guide may be obtained by sending check or money order for $6.95 to the Better Business Bureau, 150 Michigan Avenue, Detroit 48226. Be sure to include complete name, address and zip code. For information on quantity orders, contact the bureau at 962-0550.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

To the Supervisor and Clerk of the Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan

Sirs: You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on May 29, 1980, decide and determine that the certain alley described in the minutes of said meeting of said Board should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a public alley, reserving therein the easement set forth in said determination.

The portion of the minutes of said meeting fully describing said alley is attached hereto and made a part of this notice, which is given under and by virtue of Act 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan, this 29th day of May A.D., 1980.

BOARD OF COUNTY ROAD COMMISSIONERS OF THE COUNTY OF WAYNE, MICHIGAN
Michael Berry, Chairman
Grace R. Hampton, Vice-Chairman
Freddie G. Burton, Commissioner
Henry J. Galecki
Secretary and Clerk of the Board

RESOLUTION

Commissioner Burton moved the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS, pursuant to petition and in accordance with the provisions of Section 18, Chapter IV, Act No. 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended, this Board, by resolution dated April 3, 1980, set a date of hearing on said petition and directed a Hearing Examiner to hold said hearing; and

WHEREAS, said hearing was held at the time and place appointed, and the Board has considered the Findings of Fact as reported by its Hearing Examiner concerning the advisability of absolutely abandoning and discontinuing:

The alley, 20 feet wide - as dedicated to the use of the public in "MCINTYRE MANOR", a subdivision of the W. 1/2 of the N.E. 1/4 Section 15, T.2S., R.8E., Canton Twp., Wayne Co., Michigan, as recorded in Liber 61 of Plats on Page 68, Wayne County Records - lying in the rear of Lots 13 to 24 both inclusive and adjacent to Lots 287 and 404.

WHEREAS, the premises were viewed in accordance with said statute.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that it is in the best interest of the public that the above-described county road or portion thereof be absolutely abandoned and discontinued and that said road or portion thereof is hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued, reserving therein an easement for public utilities and sewer purposes.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Berry and carried by the following vote:
AYES: Commissioners Burton and Berry.
NAYS: None.

Enjoy outdoor living safely

'Wilderness kills,' guide warns

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Dave Heiser leaned back in his chair and smiled as he pondered the question.

"No, the high cost of gasoline hasn't hurt our programs, in fact it's helped," answered Heiser, referring to the extensive series of trips (backpacking, canoe, hiking and fishing) offered by the Wayne-Westland YMCA.

"Once you get to the site, the expenses are minimal to none," he explained. "This is not like a vacation where you drive around a lot—and the transportation to and from the site is all covered in the trip price."

"Anyone who is moderately resourceful can get by on $25 for a week. You can feed yourself really well on the trail for $3 a day."

During the past seven years Heiser, an Ohio native, has directed more than 2,000 persons on YMCA sponsored wilderness outings. And he's more than a little irked with the so-called experts that risk the safety of untrained persons in unnecessarily adverse conditions.

"I'm not in superb physical condition but I could survive in the wilderness for a month dressed as I am now," declared Heiser, attired in a long-sleeve cotton shirt and dress slacks. "But I have the training and experience needed to survive in case of adverse conditions."

"The wilderness kills," he continued in an ominous tone, "and it permanently disables. That's why we stress safety first in all our trips."

"Breaking a leg in an office is much different from breaking a leg 200 miles from the nearest road in a heavily wooded area. I don't guarantee that one will like a backpacking trip—but we will bring everyone back safely."

According to Heiser, who has served as YMCA director in Wayne-Westland for a year, the outdoors' business is "booming" as an alternative vacation to the normal sightseeing trip.

This summer YMCA supervised groups will come to grips with nature at such sites as the Appalachian Trail in North Carolina, Custer State Park in South Dakota, Bruce Trail in Ontario and the Adirondak Mountains in Lake Placid, New York. More information on the various trip packages can be obtained by calling Heiser at 721-7044.

For those who think they might enjoy backpacking in the great outdoors, Heiser offers these bits of advice:

- Don't go by yourself. "We've given
- (Continued on Page 16)

Bill Johnson of Westland stops to enjoy nature along the Bruce Trail in Ontario.

Taking a raft ride down the Nantahala River in North Carolina can be a lot of fun as evidenced by the reactions of Nancy Zwiers (left), Jeanie McIntosh, John Wise, Brian Tadzak and Laurie Patori. Various supervised trips into the wilderness are offered through the Wayne-Westland YMCA.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

Weather has forever been the determining factor in whether a bass fisherman is successful or frustrated.

Every knowledgeable basser knows that with the various seasonal changes comes different weather conditions and different behavioral patterns in bass—an approaching storm or cold front means a falling barometer and good fishing, but once the front arrives, fishing isn't worth the effort for two or three days.

I've often wondered what happens in spring during spawning rituals. The spawning urge in any and all species is so strong that nothing seems able to change their minds...except the weather.

But to what extent?

Take, for example, the weather we've been experiencing lately. The temperature drops from the 70's and 80's during the day into the 40's overnight, it rains three or four days out of the week and, for a short time a while ago, tornadoes were daily occurrences. Yet, through all this, bass were supposed to spawn.

Bass start spawning when the water temperature reaches into the upper 60's. But what happens when a cold front passes through and drops the temperature in the shallows a couple degrees?

I think I finally found the answer.

I was fishing the Portage chain of lakes in Washtenaw County two weekends ago, and the weather made it feel like late autumn. The day before, the air temperature was 85 degrees and sunny, and fishing was nothing short of fabulous.

However, the day I was out, the thermometer hovered somewhere in the low 60's. To make matters worse, a stiff wind was howling out of the northwest and we were being pelted by a heavy rain. I would have gladly traded my cooler full of beer for a thermos of hot coffee.

My partner and I could easily see bass spawning beds all over the shallows in two to three feet of water, but we didn't spy any bass hanging around. A chartreuse spinnerbait produced a few stragglers, but we couldn't figure out where all the bass had gone that made those nests.

Then we discovered the secret, or "pattern," as I discussed in last week's edition of Fishing Lines.

The beds were all located between the shoreline and the inside edge of weeds. As a last resort, we moved out to the thickest weedbeds (we had already tested the dropoffs), took out our "plow jockies"—plastic worms rigged on a snell with three tiny hooks strung out along the length of the body—and delicately flipped them into pockets in the weeds. We then allowed them to drift weightless to the bottom (the water here was from five to seven feet deep) and let them lie motionless for a few moments.

When the bass hit these worms, they would explode from the weed pockets as if they were trying to launch themselves into outer space. We lost more fish than we landed because the bass would get tangled up in the heavy weeds and would tear the thin wire hooks from their jaws. However, we did manage to boat about 20 largemouths with the biggest crowding four pounds. Without exception, all were released.

So, the next time you expect to see the shallows in your favorite bass lake dotted with spawning bass, but the beds are vacant due to inclement weather, move out to the thickest weedbeds you can find close to the spawning area. Chances are, that's where you'll find the bass "weathering the storm."

Good news for fishermen in southeast Michigan! Belleville Lake is finally up to normal level and fishing is great. Anglers are taking largemouths that are tipping the scale at more than five pounds, and walleyes weighing up to eight pounds. The fish are hitting a wide variety of lures, including quarter-ounce white jigs, crawfish-colored crankbaits, spinnerbaits and nightcrawler harnesses. For more specific information, check with the folks at Sandy's Marina, near the dam.

El Floppo is name of new stage show at Music Hall

El Floppo might be the name of Detroit's newest professional sports franchise. Or, it could be the name of a brand new eight-cylinder luxury automobile. El Floppo could even be the name of a cheap hotel in Panama.

But the real El Floppo is the name of the wacky family-comedy-dancing-musical stage show featured at the Music Hall in Detroit this weekend.

The stars of the show, Noel Parenti and Karen McCormick, had a monumental problem when they named the show. What do you call a live stage show that features slapstick, tap dancing, acrobatics, instrumental music, silent movie mime, skits, drum routines and jokes?

El Floppo has played to enthusiastic audiences throughout the U.S. and Europe. Parenti's dancing and acting credits include the American Ballet Theatre, the Metropolitan Opera Ballet, Broadway musicals, motion pictures and network television.

McCormick perfected her clowning and mime with the Comedia Dell'Arte School and with the world renowned Swiss clown, Dimitri.

El Floppo performances are at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and at 6:30 p.m. Sunday with matinees scheduled at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tickets, priced at $8, $6 and $4 for adults and half price for children 12 and under, can be purchased at the box office, 350 Madison Ave. or by calling 963-7680 between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. through Saturday.

Pool supervisor offers maintenance advice

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Imagine having 23,000 swimmers over for a pool party this summer.

Harry Long knows what that can be like. One of his responsibilities as maintenance supervisor for the Wayne recreation department is the care of the Civic Center pool.

Quite a responsibility when one considers that the pool measures 150 feet by 50 feet and takes 320,000 gallons of water to fill. Last year some 23,000 tankers took a dip here, the vast majority being children.

Such popularity requires daily supervision and maintenance of the facility, not unlike the proper care needed for a backyard pool. Long has one of those too.

"Our pool at home is above ground, 18 feet around and four feet deep," said Long, a 25-year maintenance veteran. "I follow a set pattern to keep things running smoothly."

"Every morning before work I turn on the filter and chlorinate the water," he explained. "Then at night (around 6 p.m.) I turn off the filter and check the pH level. A high level means the water has too much alkaline, if it's low that means too much acid."

"I also try to vacuum the pool for 10 minutes everyday rather than wait and have a half hour job."

Sounds simple enough. Yet Long has some words of caution for the local pool owner.

"Make sure the filter is big enough for the size of pool you have," Long advised. "Too often people buy a filter that's simply inadequate and that leads to problems."

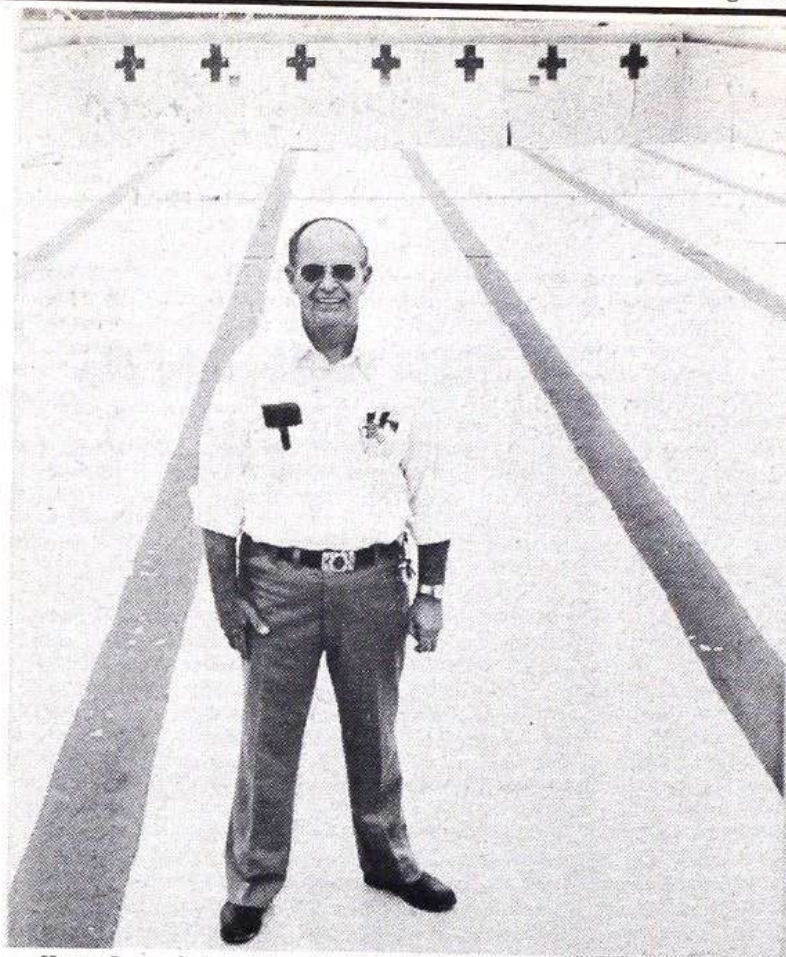

Pool guests should observe the rules of the host. See Page 7 for details.

"I strongly recommend running the filter at least six hours per day — eight hours would be better," he continued. "And check the chlorine everyday. If the water's out of balance your eyes could become red and burn."

Long admitted that the increasing popularity of backyard pools has cut into the number of swimmers who visit the large Civic Center version (it's three to 11 feet deep).

"Anyone thinking of putting a pool up should contact city hall," Long said. "City codes must be met to insure safety."

"And parents should instruct their children to cut out roughhousing in the pool. It's one of the biggest causes of injuries, no matter what size the pool."

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Steve O'Leary has served as entertainment editor for the University of Michigan-Dearborn newspaper for three years. His reviews have appeared in City magazine, White Noise and Streetlife.

ALICE COOPER "Flush The Fashion" (Warner Bros.)

Like Linda Ronstadt and Billy Joel, Alice Cooper's latest album is an attempt to ride the new wave of rock and roll. While Joel and Ronstadt both failed in their effort to incorporate "punk" into their music, Cooper has succeeded.

Why? Because he understands a very important element of the punk ethic the others fail to: the ability to laugh at yourself, to make fun of yourself.

Indeed, what Cooper has done is to unleash his uncanny powers of parody on the new trend in music, much as he did to violence years ago. The result is "Flush The Fashion," his best LP in years.

"Clones," the first single off of the album is already a hit, and deservedly so; its swirling synthesized sound and Bowie-esque vocals are simply irresistible.

"Model Citizen" is the inverse of Alice Cooper's reality. Actually a nice, all-American type guy (you've got to be to appear on "Hollywood Squares" as much as he has), he's always gone to lunatic extremes onstage, and so is portrayed in many minds as a violent madman who chops up dolls for fun. "I think I've got them fooled again/He's an ultra-sweet

Alice Cooper's 'punk' is a hit guy/And master of disguise/I'm a model citizen."

An untemper rocker closes side one, titled "Aspirin Damage," and it is a perfect example of Cooper's sublime wit: "I balance my Exedrin/And Anacins in stacks/I'm a pain reliever junkie/I got a Bayer on my back."

Alice takes Cheap Trick's "Mommy's alright, Daddy's alright, they just seem a little weird" theme a bit further on the hilarious "Dance Yourself To Death."

Co-written with ex-Jett Black bassist Frank Crandell, the song concerns a guy whose parents are a little too "hip" to suit him: "They've loosened up their up-tights" he croons. "Dad's wearing real tight Levis/And some Gucci tennis shoes/He got a custom T-shirt made for him/Saying, 'Give Me Pot, Not Booze.'"

Ah, but what of dear old Mom you ask? "Mom's hair's all green and dirty/She wears a high-tech Devo suit/She changed her name to Zerox/She hides qualudes in her boots."

Both musically and lyrically, "Flush The Fashion" is an overall success, something Alice hasn't known in years. I really hope his mushy housewife ballad days are over, because when the Coop rocks, he really rocks. Herein lies the proof.

RODNEY CROWELL

"But What Will The Neighbors Think" (Warner Bros.)

Rodney Crowell, along with Joe Ely, is undoubtedly at the head of the class in the new country genre. His oft-covered tunes leave people like Eddie Rabbit, Larry Gatlin, and the Bellamy Brothers by the wayside, and his performances of them are just as good.

As the husband of Roseanne Cash (of the Carter-Cash clan), the country tradition is deeply imbedded in Crowell. But it is a new kind of country music that he defines so well; mixing in a bit of folk, rock, and blues to his advantage, never to excess.

"It's Only Rock 'n' Roll" is a good example, as it fuses rock and country in a new and exciting way, and the lyrics shame Billy Joel's "It's Still Rock and Roll To Me" to no end.

People who think of Joel as a literary genius should try Crowell on for size. "Second that emotion, paste it to your soul/Don't worry lest ya linger, son, it's only rock 'n' roll."

Other highlights include "Ashes By Now," which offers the delightful line "As much as you burn me, baby/I should be in ashes by now"; Hank DeVito's rollicking "Queen Of Hearts"; and "Here Come The 80's," which seems like a cynical comment on the times, but ends with the optimistic statement "Where there's a new day, there's a new way." And Crowell seems to know what it is.

Rodney Crowell's lyrics are totally intriguing, making every word count in ways both amusing and haunting. Sometimes, as in "Ain't No Money," he hits both at the same time. But keep in mind that it isn't just lyrical effectiveness that is Crowell's forte, but beautiful music also. You can't go wrong with this guy. Really.

Sze-Chaun offers new style of tasty food

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Feature Writer

How would you like the delightful opportunity to try a tasty new style of food and improve your health at the same time?

That double-barreled treat is offered to food connoisseurs who savor Szechuan food — a tantalizing spicy preparation of meats and vegetables.

Receiving its name from a province in Southwest China, Szechuan (pronounced See-schwan) food was recently described in the New York Times and credited with preventing blood clots and heart attacks.

The only restaurant in the Detroit area with a complete menu of Szechuan dishes is Sze-Chuan Restaurant, 45188 Ford Road, across from Meijer Thrifty Acres, in Canton.

Frank Tsou, along with co-owners Pallas and Sonny Wong, held the new restaurant's grand opening May 23 and is very high on this method of food preparation, new to this area.

"With our chef Shaw Lo, who is originally from Szechuan, diners can be sure that every item is properly prepared to the highest standards of his home province," Tsou said. The name Sze-Chuan literally means "four streams."

"The desire of introducing the authentic Sze-chuan cuisine to the American public makes the work here more than just a job for Chef Lo — it is a mission he takes great pride in."

Sze-chuan cuisine is very popular in New York City and Los Angeles, especially with Jewish people, Tsou explained. Chef Lo is an accomplished master in the culinary arts.

"He was part owner of Sze-Chuan West Restaurant on Broadway in New York City and also was the number one cook at Mandarin House in Tampa, Florida," Tsou said.

Tsou said he started the restaurant, not only to introduce a tasty, healthful new cuisine to this area but also to help his relatives — Pallas and Sonny — in their efforts to go into business for themselves.

Tsou, who is an engineer with one of the "Big Three" automakers, is 28 years old and was born in Taiwan. He came to Michigan in 1973 after graduating from Drexel University with a degree in mechanical engineering. In 1978 he received his master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan.

he pointed out.

"The Chinese Mushrooms are used in 80 percent of our dishes and a recent article in the New York Times said it helped keep blood from clogging and

RESTAURANTS

His wife, Helen Du, is also an engineer at Frank's place of employment, working in scientific research. The couple, who have lived in Canton two years, are parents of a baby girl — Emily — who is seven months old.

"The greatest thing America has to offer is the chance to make something of yourself by working hard," Tsou said. He also likes the idea of being the first in the area to offer a complete menu of Szechuan food.

"Some people who don't like regular Chinese food may very well like the variety and style of food we offer. Our dishes include ginger, garlic and Chinese Mushrooms," helped greatly in preventing heart attacks."

Canton's Sze-Chuan Restaurant is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursdays; from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday and from 12 noon to 11 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Decorated in clean, elegant style, the restaurant seats 44 diners and prides itself in fast, efficient service. The phone number is 459-3960 for carry out meals.

Sze-Chuan Restaurant offers a regular Chinese food menu and also has a Chinese vegetarian menu which includes no meat. A wide variety is offered, including luncheon specials that

Private campgrounds plan variety of events

Owners of Michigan's private campgrounds are going all out this summer to recoup last year's losses with special family-oriented programs. With an adequate gasoline supply expected and more persons vacationing near home because of economic hard times, summer campgrounds will become destination resorts for many families, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"More operators than ever are planning a wide range of programs and events to fuel a predicted 6 percent increase in state tourism," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"Last summer, many private parks even in Michigan's most heavily populous regions lost money," he said.

An Auto Club survey showed that of 293 campgrounds, more than half reported business drops of two to 60 percent. Most listed unfounded gas shortage fears as the main reason.

To meet the expected demand for planned events this summer, many camp owners will become full-time recreation directors.

Tasty food

(Continued from Page 4) range from $2.55 to $3.25; appetizer dishes for less than $2 and a full range of dinners such as fresh sea food, tender chicken and duck, choice beef and fried soft noodles.

A well-known Chinese writer described Szechuan cuisine as follows:

"Szechuan cuisine is a brilliant freak which breaks all the rules of conventional Chinese Mandarin cooking and gets away with it. The use of relishes and seasoning is another language.

"The manifold flavor is the chief characteristic of Szechuan food, many dishes are simultaneously sour, sweet, hot, salty and aromatic. One is often surprised by the first taste.

"But after a while one begins to see that there is a different logic that makes Szechuan cuisine so unique and colorful in character, that it stands out to be one of the world's best cuisines."

All that — and it helps you enjoy better health, too!

Allegan's Tri Ponds Family Camp Resort offers crafts, square dancing, archery and campfire programs on weekends.

Campers can explore an underground copper mine at Adventure Mine campground at Greenland in the Upper Peninsula, or plumb the depths of the state's only natural limestone cavern at Buchanan's Bear Cave Resort.

Still others can enjoy the sights of Metropolitan Detroit on tours leaving Ypsilanti's Detroit-Greenfield KOA.

Other activities including special children's programs such as on-site petting zoos, hay and horseback rides, fishing ponds and hikes are planned at 110 other parks, more than four times the number listing activities than last summer. In addition, 275 private parks list swimming in either lakes or pools.

Parks charge an average of $5.70 nightly for a site with electricity. By comparison, state park campgrounds users will pay up to $6, $1 more than a year ago, plus $1 daily or $5 annual entry fees. There also is a $3 fee to reserve a state park site.

Campers can save gasoline and money by storing units for as little as $10 per month, a feature available at 248 private facilities. A few private parks even offer free storage. There is no storage at state parks.

Auto Club's 1980 guide lists 367 privately operated parks with 34,737 sites, nearly half the state's approximately 70,000 campsites. All but 20 list at-site electricity, with water and sewer hook-ups at 280 and 151 parks, respectively.

State park campsites total 13,912, unchanged from last year. There are 3,269 state forest campground sites, 31 less than a year ago. Federal and county, township and city park sites remain at 2,522 and 8,200 respectively.

Pool guests should observe host's rules

Everyone has "house rules." They provide disciplinary guidelines for children and describe the bounds of courtesy for adults.

"Poor rules" are also common and usually define limits that insure the safety of those using the pool. But the National Swimming Pool Institute suggests that the social environment offered by a home swimming pool also calls for some unique modifications of standard rules of etiquette.

The institute offers these tips for being a good host, or a good guest, poolside.

For pool owners:

- Be sure the pool area is sufficiently enclosed to thwart entry when adults are not around. Pool owners are responsible for the safety of all their guests, even uninvited ones.

- The host's children should be taught to set a good example for other children who will use the pool.

- Have on hand extra swimming suits and towels to offer guests who may not have come prepared to swim.

- A tub of water, wading pool, or shower should be provided so guests can wash their feet and remove suntan lotion before entering the pool. This will help keep the pool clean and clear.

- If several children are invited along with adults, certain periods should be set aside to allow adult swimmers to relax and swim without the noisy play of younger splashers.

- When refreshments are served, be sure they are contained in paper or plastic cups and dishes, not glass or ceramic. Broken glasses or plates can cut bare feet on the deck. If pieces find their way into the pool, they may also damage equipment.

- After the swim, offer the use of your clothes drier so guests will not have to transport wet suits and towels home.

For pool guests:

- Be prepared. Bring along swimsuits, towels, toys, rafts, suntan lotions, sunglasses and dry clothes for changing.

- Bring refreshments. The hosts are providing the fun; providing the food is a nice gesture they will appreciate.

- Don't invite guests without first asking the host's permission, and never send children to the pool unsupervised assuming that the host is prepared to watch them.

- Guests should supervise their own children when they are included. Parents should be responsible for the good manners and safety habits of their children.

- Remove suntan lotion before entering the pool. It causes extra work for pool chemicals and equipment.

For guests who enjoy their friends' pools enough to consider having a pool of their own, a consumer guide, "There's a Pool For You." To obtain a copy, send $2 to the National Swimming Pool Institute, 2000 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20006.

New class

The YMCA "New Tomorrows" program will sponsor a class entitled "The 20th Century Woman." The focus will be on updating appearance and job skills.

Princess Harris of Radio Station WCAR's "A Brand New Day" program has correlated this 6-week class, which will begin June 16 at 7 p.m. at the YMCA, 26279 Michigan Avenue, Inkster. The cost of the class will be $25, and it will culminate in a fashion show for the participants.

Hot Dog Pizza is a quick trick for the grilling season

For a different kind of taste treat this summer, try a combination of two American favorites, hot dogs and pizza.

Easy to prepare because it uses a no-yeast crust, Hot Dog Pizza is perfect for camping trips, picnic or fishing outings.

In addition to having a quick, economical meal, you'll also be providing a nutritious one, according to the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council. Two hot dogs supply one-third of a child's daily protein requirement and one-fourth for an adult, the council points out.

Hot Dog Pizza

2 cups buttermilk biscuit mix
1/2 cup water
18-oz. can pizza sauce
4 hot dogs, sliced
4 thin slices of medium-size onion, separated into rings
1/2 cup (1 2 1/2-oz. jar) sliced black olives
1/2 cup (1 2 1/2-oz. jar or can) mushrooms, sliced
8 oz. (2 cups) Mozzarella cheese, grated

Light your coals, then mix biscuit mix and water until it forms a soft dough. Knead 20 to 25 times. Divide dough into fourths and gently smooth into four balls. Let set for half an hour.

Roll or pat dough into eight-inch circles. When coals become gray, place dough on grill about six inches above coals and cook for about three minutes — or until just crispy.

With spatula, flip dough and spread generously with pizza sauce. Arrange sliced hot dogs, onion rings, olives and mushrooms evenly over the four circles.

Sprinkle with mozzarella cheese and top with remaining pizza sauce. Grill for 10 minutes and then cover with foil and continue cooking for an additional 15 minutes. Yield: four generous servings.

Rainy Day Variation: Don't let rainy weather keep you from enjoying this quick and easy treat. Bake on a cookie sheet (two pizzas to a sheet) in a preheated 425 degrees F oven for 15 minutes, or until nicely browned.

Hot Dog Pizza is one idea for backyard barbecues or picnic outings. It's a treat that also can be baked in case of rainy weather.

Drum and bugle corps compete at Eastern Michigan

More than 1200 young musicians from throughout the country will compete at the Drum Corps International Northern Drum and Bugle Corps Championship at 7:30 p.m. June 21 at Eastern Michigan University's Ryneason Stadium.

After finishing second in national competition for the past three years, the Phantom Regiment of Rockford, Ill. is one of the favorites in this event. Known for its classical music program, the group boasts a 32-member color guard.

Also included in the Ypsilanti competition will be two Canadian drum corps and the Madison Scouts, one of two all-male drum and bugle corps in the U.S.

Tickets, priced at $6 and $4, are available at the gate or The Hair Station in the Lakewood Shopping Center. For further information, contact the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce at 482-4920.

Music fills the air at Wayne concert

What happens when 125 first and second graders sing their hearts out? You have quite a performance, as visitors to Monroe School in Wayne recently discovered. A standing-room-only crowd was treated to a Music Around the World program that featured songs with an international flavor directed by music teacher Al Hurshburger. The first and second graders sang and danced during a one-hour program with musical accompaniment supplied by other students from the school. Among the violinists were (left to right) Darin Hayden, Terri Klimezak and Tara Scott, all fourth graders. The show was quite an attention grabber for six year old Lisa Pearson (above left) who intently watches strings and instrument teacher Lenora Freeborn perform.

It's Strawberry Festival time again in Belleville

If you don't have anything planned for the weekend of June 20-22, think about stopping by the Belleville Strawberry Festival.

The fourth annual festival is put on by the community organizations of the city and includes activities for everyone.

For your information, here are just a few highlights of the upcoming festival:

Friday, June 20

5-8 p.m., Rolled Cabbage Dinner
6:30 p.m., Strawberry Queen Contest
8-11 p.m., Michigan Polka Tells (dancing and listening)

Saturday, June 21

8:30 a.m., 1, 4 and 6 Mile runs (registration fee)
10-8 p.m., Art Fair
11 a.m., Parade
12-8 p.m., Free Music Festival
12:15 p.m., Tricycle Race
1 p.m., Belleville Bicycle Race
2 p.m., Strawberry Shortcake Eating Contest
6 p.m., Crackpot Square Dancing

7-9 p.m., Dance to the music of "Northern Breeze"

7-11 p.m., Bobcats (dancing, listening, square dancing)

Sunday, June 22

8 a.m., Lakeside Church Services
Noon-5 p.m., Strawberry Goodies, fun, games and raffles
1-9 p.m., Amusement Rides, dunk tank, bingo
4-9 p.m., Tune Mixers German Band - free dancing
9 p.m., Raffle Drawing

The above is only a partial schedule of events. A full schedule of events which includes all activities is available by calling the Belleville Chamber of Commerce at 697-7151.

When going to the Festival, it would be wise to stop at the Presbyterian Church located on Belleville Road just as you enter town. The church will serve as an information center for the festival with a complete information booth on all events available.

Of course, the festival promotes the Belleville, Ypsilanti Strawberry Growers Association. For those of you who like to pick your own, the association offers four farms which specialize in this activity. The farms include:

1. Thornhollow Farm, 16280 Martinsville Road
2. Rowe's Produce Farm, 10570 Martz Road
3. Ray Schultz Farm, 10090 Martz Road
4. Amrhein Strawberries, 8040 Tuttle Hill Road

The Association suggests calling ahead for best berry picking. The hot line is 699-2088.

Mildred Neibauer, Wayne

"A friend of ours from church saw my husband's name (Alvin) in a Playtime ad in the Romulus Roman and called me up. After I claimed our free dinner, a neighbor across the street called me when she saw his name. I was excited — now I look through Playtime every week. We're going to take our neighbors out with us (for the free dinner)."

How to 'rough it' in the safest way

food and first aid to a lot of people on the trail who had no business being there without supervision," the director noted. "On our trips we have one trained adult leader for every five hikers. I myself would not think of going alone."

- Make sure there are at least three persons in your group. In case of trouble or injury, someone can leave for help without leaving the injured person unattended.

- The experienced leader must have a thorough knowledge of backpacking in the wilderness and good first aid sense (at least advanced Red Cross level).

- Travel with a leader who knows how to repair equipment and how to prepare food. Never leave without the proper equipment, including backpack, shoes, sleeping bag, stove, etc.

- Know where you're going. "It's important to know what's between Point A and Point B," commented Heiser, a graduate of Baldwin Wallace University. "You don't have to visit a place beforehand to pre-plan a trip."

"Research the area through topographic maps and the local chamber of commerce."

- Try backpacking with a group and rent rather than purchase all the needed equipment.

"For some 'roughing it' means taking a day hike out of their RV," Heiser said. "But those who remain self sufficient without a permanent campsite receive a great deal of personal satisfaction."

"They know they've done something challenging in a dangerous environment. Yet the wilderness can be a beautiful and fun experience with the proper knowledge."

"Backpacking isn't for everyone just like staying in a motel for a week isn't for everyone," Heiser concluded. "After all, you can't get a frostbite in a Holiday Inn."

Bruce Economon (left) and Jim McKinley find that a canoe venture down North Carolina's Nantahala River can be a challenging experience.

Civic theatre picks '20-Year Revue' cast

The cast has been selected for Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre's Cabaret Theatre: "The 20-Year Revue."

Directors Lois Tobin, Jacquie Guernsey, Rosemary Morehead, Al LaCroix, and Bob Weibal made their selection from the many talented and enthusiastic individuals who auditioned.

"The 20 Year Revue," to be performed at the Bailey Recreation Center, will dramatically portray the group's 20-year history through song, dance and drama. Featured in the production will be scenes from "The Glass Menagerie," "A Streetcar Named Desire," "You Can't Take It With You," "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown," "Guys and Dolls," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Walter Mitty," "God's Favorite," plus more.

Selected actors and actresses to present these productions include Shannon McNulty, Pat Nalley, Floyd Guernsey, Maggie Applegate, Marv Nochman, Tobin Hissong, Denise Bixler, Bill Barish, Bobbie Jo Blank, Lori Mead, Lynn Button, Dan McDonald, Karen Wendt, Doreen Marhofer, Bill Hoffman, Brian Smith, Karen Anderson, Ginnie Tadlock, Leon Flees, Gail Susan Mack, Lois Tobin, Bob Weibal, Linda Silvieski, Riley Tadlock, Sheila Bauers, Terry Krausen, Dave Higgenbottom, Danny Myers and Vic Barria.

"The 20-Year Revue" will be performed on June 20 and 21 at 8 p.m. at the Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road, Westland.
